A TRIBUTE TO EDNA AGATHA KANELY
BAGS AND BUNDLES

Edna Agatha Kanely died 18 January 1992. I share these thoughts of her for those who knew and loved her.

I am not going to talk about Edna's scholarly accomplishments: they are well chronicled elsewhere. I am not going to dwell on her service to the many organizations for whom she did volunteer work.

For many years I had the privilege of giving her rides home from down-town. Often when I would open the car door for her she would say: "Well, here I am with my bags and bundles." As we would drive home we would talk about this and that and it was a pleasant way to drive through rush-hour traffic.

In recent weeks I have been thinking about what Edna really had in her bags and bundles. The first thing I know she had was CHEERFULNESS. She was no Polly Anna, but she could find the positive side in almost any situation. The next bundle must have been KINDNESS. In all the years I knew her I never heard her say an unkind word about anyone. If some one had not done something perhaps they should have, she would say, "Bob, I know they are very busy." DETERMINATION was another package she carried with her. When she set a goal she stuck to it, and nothing could sway her from her course. She also carried a large measure of HELPLESSNESS. If there was an activity planned she would volunteer to help, and whatever she did she did well. Finally, her last bag carried INTEGRITY. She took responsibility for her actions and she was not a manipulator.

Passers-by who saw her saw a little lady with a lot of bags of papers and books. People who knew her knew she carried something more precious than just papers and books. She had love, friendliness, cheerfulness and concern.

Thinking of Edna's life and what she meant to those who knew and loved her, I am reminded of the last act of Laurence Housman's play Victoria Regina, about the life of Queen Victoria. In the last scene, members of the Royal Family are gathered together after Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee celebration. The Queen describes how a workman broke through the lines of troops and shouted to her: "Go it, old girl. You've done it well." Edna, our friend, has also "done it well!"

We don't know for sure exactly what heaven is like, but I do know that if in heaven there is a need for someone to help out with any activity, Edna will be there with her bags and bundles, ready to do her part.

Perhaps we who remember her can best honor her memory by picking up some of those bags and bundles as we go through our own daily activities.

INDEX TO

MARRIAGES AND DEATHS FROM THE MARYLAND JOURNAL FOR THE YEAR 1865.

This index was compiled by the Editor as a finding aid for the entries in the (Towson) Maryland Journal, which is on microfilm at the Maryland State Archives and at the Baltimore County Library, Towson Branch. Readers are cautioned that the dates given are dates of the newspaper issue, not the date of the marriage or death. Readers are also reminded that some events were recorded in the local news and not in the regular marriage and obituary columns. This instalment concludes the Index for 1865.

The Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore has recently acquired a series of microfilm records: "Quarterly Abstracts of Passenger Lists of Vessels Arriving at Baltimore, 1820-1869."

Comprised of six reels of microfilm, these records contain names of passengers arriving in Baltimore as reported by every master of a vessel to the Collector of Customs, who then made quarterly reports to the United States Secretary of State. Usually the abstracts give a passenger's name, age, sex, occupation, country to which he/she belonged, and the country of destination. Although these reels are not indexed, if one knows the approximate year of arrival they may be very helpful in locating the exact date of arrival.

The newly formed Computer Interest Group of the Baltimore County Genealogical Society has enlisted 12 volunteers offering their time and facilities to help with the preparation of material for publication. The names of these members have been sent to the chairman of the publication committee, who in turn will contact them when their services are needed. Other than the above, no additional agenda has been determined. In order to proceed with this project as an internal organ of the Society, it has been suggested that we meet at 1:30 p.m. prior to our regular January meeting. social activities of the Ridgelys, Carnans, and their associates. The book is enhanced by a chart of the Ridgely family and a map of the Ridgely land holdings in 1790. This volume, with its full name index, will enable students of Baltimore County (and Maryland) family, social, and economic history to better understand the environment in which their ancestors lived.

Index of Obituaries and Marriages in the Baltimore Sun, 1861-1865. By Joseph C. Maguire, Jr. Baltimore: The Maryland Historical Society Library (pub. by Family Line Publications), 1992. Pp. 503. $28.50 + 1.50 p/h.

Unlike other Baltimore newspapers, the Sun was the only paper not to suspend publication during the Civil War. Hence its record of marriage and death notices in unbroken. The compiler has listed marriages under both the bride's and groom's name, and deaths under the name of the deceased. Then the date of the event is given followed by the date of the paper in which the item was found. This book will assist many researchers to find individuals whose marriages or death notices appeared in the Sun for the Civil War period.

Maryland: State and County
Directory of Ministers and the Maryland Churches They Served, 1634-1990. By Edna Agatha Kanely. 2 vols. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1991. Pp. xviii, 444; and xii, 440. $75.00 + $3.00 p/h.

Edna Agatha Kanely's last book, published days before her death in January 1992 is a fitting tribute to her perseverance and vision. Using 1422 different sources she has compiled an 880 page directory of clergymen who served Maryland congregations from colonial times to the present. A typical entry gives the name of the minister, dates of birth or death if known, denomination, and specific congregation with the years served. The entry closes with the list of one or more sources from which the data was drawn. A researcher who finds that a couple were married in say 1860 by a Rev. Potter will find that it could have been a Rev. John H. Potter, Presbyterian minister of Light St. Presbyterian Church in Baltimore from 1860 to 1867. (The researcher can then consult Edna Kanely's other monumental work, Directory of Maryland Churches, to find the location of the church records). The Directory of Ministers will prove to be of immeasurable value to family historians.

A Guide to Government Records at the Maryland State Archives: A Comprehensive List of Agency and Record Series. Annapolis: Maryland State Archives, 1991. Pp. v, 409. $15.00.

Researchers, especially those coming to Annapolis from a distance, often want to know just what records may be held by the Maryland State Archives. This guide, reasonably priced, will enable them to find out, for instance, that the Baltimore County Board of Health has a Death Record from 1902 to 1931, but the Revolutionary Patriots of Anne Arundel County, Maryland. By Henry C. Peden, Jr. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1992. Pp. vi, 188. Indexed. $19.50 + 1.50 p/h.

This is the fourth volume in Peden's series of Revolutionary Patriots of Maryland Counties. Using 30 sources the compiler has constructed an extremely useful book which will enable anyone with Anne Arundel connections to determine whether or not an individual performed any military or civil service in the Revolutionary era. Many entries are enhanced by other biographical information.

Abstracts of Marriages and Deaths and Other Articles of Interest in the Newspapers of Frederick and Montgomery Counties, Maryland, 1831-1840. By L. Tilden Moore. Bowie: Heritage Books, 1991. Pp. vi, 431. Indexed. $26.50.

Mr. Moore is to be commended for producing an excellent volume of newspaper items which includes not only vital statistics, but other items containing names of local residents. A tarring and feathering is described, and lists all kinds are included. Items are arranged chronologically by newspaper and following the date of the issue is the library where the paper can be found. Each individual item is given a number and it is by this number that persons and topics are indexed. Mr. Moore's work will be welcomed by all researchers interested in the time span. This reviewer hopes it is only the first of a series of publications by the compiler. Orders for this book should be accompanied by $3.00 for shipping and handling.

A Closer Look at Worcester County Wills. By David V. Heise. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1991. Pp. 189. Indexed. $12.00 + 1.50 p/h.

The compiler has examined the original wills of Worcester County and found a number of names omitted or misinterpreted by earlier abstracters of the wills. Included in his findings are a number of wills that were omitted entirely from the abstracts and some 40 wills that were published with the name of the wrong testator. For each volume of wills, Mr. Heise has listed the corrections to spellings of names of persons and places and included a list of names omitted from the Index. This is an extremely helpful book.

Users of the book will find either an exact date of marriage or a date preceded by a hyphen which meas that the marriage had taken place by that date. Following that is an abbreviation of the source used, which may lead to other information. The compiler used a variety of sources including some Maryland records. The result is a helpful book.

Scots on the Chesapeake, 1607-1830. By David Dobson. Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1992. Pp. xvi, 169. $20.00.

Researchers seeking clues to the Scottish origins of their ancestors will find many valuable leads in Dobson's book. The introduction contains a brief history of immigration from Scotland to the Chesapeake Region and discusses some of the great waves of Scottish settlers, voluntary or involuntary. In compiling his list of close to 140 sources, Dobson has used references found in major archives and libraries in Great Britain and North America. He has also included references from secondary sources (some of which should be used with care). Like his other books this one is an extremely important addition to the field of immigration literature.

The Complete Book of Emigrants, 1700-1750. By Peter Wilson Coldham. Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1992. Pp. ix, 743. Indexed. $44.95 + $2.50 p/h.

This is the third volume in Coldham's series of "Complete Books of emigrants, in which he presents in chronological order a list of emigrants to the New World found in surviving English records. A few records, such as transportation of felons and Palatine emigrations, have not been included, but the volume contains names of some 25,000 emigrants. The volume opens with an Addenda to the previous volume, and after the text, contains an index of persons and an index of ships. Like all of coldham's works, this is a welcome addition to the library of Immigration Literature.

Unlocking the Secrets of Old Photographs. By Karen Frisch-Ripley. Salt Lake City: Ancestry Pub., 1991. Pp. 190. Indexed. Soft cover; price not available at review.

The subtitle for this wonderful volume should be "Genealogical Research Through old Photographs." The author has taken her initial curiosity in an unidentified photo album and produced a comprehensive and well written approach to genealogical research.

Mrs. Frisch-Ripley's style is fresh and lively, telling the story of her experiences and at the same time providing the reader with first hand examples of problem solving, source materials and techniques. The book also includes an entire section on the history of photography, the care of photographs, and how to glean additional genealogical clues from, them. The work is more than a standard "how to" research book. It is a well written, readable and comprehensive tool for researchers of all levels of experience. Copies may be ordered from the publisher.

Your Life and Times. By Stephen and Julia Arthur. Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1991. Pp. 50. Soft cover. Price not available at review.

This little book turns the tables on all of us who love genealogy. It takes us out of the role of researcher and places us in the spotlight of the one being researched. On first reading the book, this reviewer found herself somewhat bored by the seemingly endless lists of questions in the interview guideline, that touch on every aspect of one's life. From the opening "I was born....," the guide walks through childhood, siblings, schools, illnesses, friends, military services, marriages: every aspect of life's experiences. The reviewer came to realize that book is a well throughout guide for preparing oral histories, and definitely serves its purpose.

The importance of this book is that it serves as a reminder to us to document our own lives because some day, someone might be researching us.

Family Histories

Family Connections: Some Southern Ancestors with Allied Lines. By Eleanor J. Britten Hartstone. Marion, MA: Family Publications, 1991. Pp. ix, 211. Indexed. Illus. $50.00 (includes p/h).

The compiler has put together an interesting account of her ancestors in the Covington, Jenkins, Jackson, Kimbrough, Brothers, King, Powell, Slaughter, Walker, Bell, Cheney, Fulford, Halley, Isaac, Jacob, Moody, Odell, Ridgely, Pottenger, Singer, Carr, Welch and Britten Families. She has used land, probate, tax, pension, and family records to create a readable account of her ancestors' lives and times. Tombstones, documents and sketches, with family photographs form the core of the illustrations. Although the compiler has not always followed a standard format for identifying her sources, family members will find this an excellent book to have in their library. Copies may be ordered from Family Publications, p. o. Box 797, Marion, MA 02738.

An Ordinary of Arms: Contained the Public Register of All Arms and Bearings in Scotland. By Sir James Balfour Paul. (1893, 1903). Repr. Baltimore: Genealogical Pub. Co., for Clearfield Co., Inc., 1991. Pp. xxiv, 428. Indexed.

An Ordinary of Arms is a listing of arms arranged, not by name of family, but by the charges (symbols) used on the shield. The listings begin with two arms showing abbeys, one coat bearing acorns, and one of allierions. This ordinary, listing all arms actually recorded in the Lyon Register, but there are many Scottish families whose right to a coat of arms predates the beginning of the Register in 1672. The index contains families and individuals whose arms are listed in this work. Persons researching Scottish families will find this book invaluable.

SOCIAL SECURITY APPLICATIONS TO BE DESTROYED
BY THE SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

(From the Newsletter of the Odom Library, Moultrie, GA, Feb./March 1992, submitted by BCGS member Loretta Rutkowski)

The Social Security Administration plans to destroy the original 37 million applications for Social Security, which include applications for many persons born in the 1860's and 1870's. Many were naturalized citizens. These applications have the address of the applicant, date and place of birth and father's name and mother's maiden name. Concerned researchers should write to "Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Blvd., Baltimore, MD 21235" to ask that these records be turned over to the National Archives for genealogical research. A letter to your Member of Congress may also be an effective way to deal with the problem. If these records are to be microfilmed before destruction insist that all film is readable before any destruction of the originals.

Scharf's History of Baltimore City and County: The Index. Comp. by Bill and Martha Reamy. Finksburg: Pipe Creek Publications, n.d. Pp. iv, 228. $25.00.

Scharf's History of Baltimore City and county was published in 1881 and republished by the Genealogical Publishing Company in 1971. Neither edition contained an adequate index, although the reprint did contain a rearranged index. Until the appearance of this book, the only complete name index was to be found in the Wilkins File at the Maryland Historical Society. Now Bill and Martha Reamy have produced an index that contains names of men and women (with married women cross referenced under their maiden names), but also names of buildings, institutions, towns, estates, and bodies of water. This reviewer has already found numerous references to several families he has been working on.

The Maryland Newspaper Project; A Guide to Newspapers and Newspaper Holdings in Maryland. First Edition. Baltimore: The Maryland Department of Education, 1991. No Charge.

Researchers interested in obtaining this 412 page book can contact the Maryland State Department of Education, Division of Library Development and Services. It lists 87 repositories in Maryland that contain one or more issues of a newspaper. The listing is not limited to Maryland newspapers, but includes papers from all over the United States. This is a very helpful book. The State Department of Education is to be commended for a very fine book.

Tax Lists of Somerset County, 1730-1740. By Jean Elliott Russo. Westminster: Family Line Pubs., c.r. 1992 by Lois Green Carr. Pp. viii, 299. Indexed. $26.50.

Tax lists are an important genealogical tool. When they cover a given area for a span of years they can indicate when an individual moved into the area or when he attained his taxable age or when he established his own household. The compiler has taken tax lists for Somerset County for 1730 through 1740 and in transcribing them has given each individual a number. In the index the names of the taxables are followed by two digits representing the year and the number of the individual in that year's list. The Introduction by Lois Green Carr discusses the usefulness of these materials. The book is highly recommended.

Maryland: Military Records

The German Regiment of Maryland and Pennsylvania in the Continental Army, 1776-1781. By Henry J. Retzer. Westminster: Family Line Pubs., 1991. Pp. iii, 152. Indexed; illus. $11.50.

This book is divided into seven chapters that give the history, organization, and military history of the Regiment, and three appendices, the third of which contains biographical data on members of the various components of the organization. Each personnel entry contains one or more coded citations to references used in compiling the biographical data. Since there are several listings of names, the index makes it easy to locate a given individual. The book will be helpful to anyone interested in the history of military organizations, or in tracing specific individuals. It is highly recommended.

Maryland: Probate Records

Abstracts of the Inventories and Accounts of the Prerogative Court of Maryland. Compiled by Vernon L. Skinner. Westminster: Family Line Pubs., 1992. Volume 1: 1674-1678, 1699-1705, Libers 1-5. Pp. iv, 130. $11.00. Volume 2: 1679-1686, Libers 6, 7a, 7b, 8. Pp. iv, 134. $11.00.

In 1674 Inventories and Accounts were recorded in one series of records by the Prerogative Court of Maryland. This series continued until 1718 when separate series for Inventories and Accounts were established. The entries in these two volumes contain names of decedents, of executors and/or administrators, of heirs, and any individuals mentioned in the records as debtors or creditors. In the case of inventories, the value of the estate is given. Clues to marriages of widows are often found, not only among the bereaved widows, but included in the lists of creditors and debtors. Mr. Skinner has already published 17 volumes of abstracts of inventories for the period, 1718-1777. Now he is making available another important series of probate records. Researchers must have these books !

Worcester County Maryland Will Book JW-13, 1783-1790. By David V. Heise. Westminster: Family Line Pubs., 1991. Pp. 73. Indexed. $8.00.

This volume completes the abstracts of Worcester County Wills, 1666-1851, made by Vernon L. Skinner, Sharon Jones, and Ruth T. Dryden. In addition to names of testators, dates of signing and probate, and names of legatees, the compiler has included names of tracts mentioned in the wills. The full name index shows the name of the testators underlined. The book is recommended.

Family Histories

Durbin and Logsdon Genealogy with Related Families, 1626-1991. Comp. By Betty Jewell Durbin Carson. Bowie: Heritage Books, 1991. Pp. xii, 597. Indexed; illus. $36.50 + $3.00 s/h.

The compiler has used a wide variety of primary sources to put together a very full account of the Durbin and Logsdon families as well as related lines of Barber, Barkley, Brown, Burges, Burtle, Dial, Ewing, Phifer, Gatton, Hill, Logue, Mattingly, French, McKenzie, Meeds, Oiler, Painter, Ream, Rice, Sapp, Simons, Simpson, Virden, Wilkinson and Winebrenner. A lot of work has gone into this volume, and although this reviewer wishes a Table of contents had been included, there is so much information in this book that descendants will find it extremely helpful.

Out of State Sources

Genealogical Gleanings Abstracted from the Early Newspapers of Penn Yan, Yates County, New York, 1823-1833 and 1841-1855. Comp. by Diane Stenzel. Bowie: Heritage Books, Inc., 1991. Pp. x, 262. Indexed. $23.00.

BCGS member Diane Stenzel has abstracted vital records from two Yates County newspapers to produce a very helpful book about this New York County. The abstracts are very complete and, to avoid confusion, the names of counties have been added to the towns mentioned. There is a full name index with references to entry numbers rather than pages, and there is a special index of names connected with the Revolutionary War. Royalties from the book will be given to the Yates County Office of Public History. The compiler is to be commended for producing a well constructed volume.

International Research

Emigrants from Ireland to America, 1735-1743. By Frances McDonnell. Baltimore: Genealogical Pub. Co., 1992. Pp. 134. Indexed. $18.50.

The compiler has taken a transcription of the report of the Irish House of Commons into enforced emigration to America, and included information on some 2,000 Irish inhabitants who were transported to the American colonies in the mid 18th century. Names of the transportees are arranged by county, and entries usually give the home county, date of transportation, and offense. Destinations are not usually given, but some lists do contain the colony to which the felons are being shipped.

German-English Genealogical Dictionary. By Ernest Thode. Baltimore: Gen. Pub. Co., Inc., 1992. Pp. xxxv, 286. Illus. $29.95.

Individuals using german genealogical source materials will find this concise dictionary of inestimable value. The main part of the dictionary is preceded by sections on German genealogical symbols, lists of given names and surnames, months and signs of the zodiac, and suffixes, as well as a guide to dialect pronunciations. Occupational, legal, numerical, and liturgical terms are included in the text. This is an extremely helpful book. It is recommended highly.

Royalty

Royalty for Commoners: The Complete Known Lineage of John of Gaunt, son of Edward III, King of England, and Queen Philippa; Second Edition. By Roderick W. Stuart. Baltimore: Gen., Pub. Co., Inc., 1992. Pp. xvii, 395. Indexed. $30.00.

For many years this reviewer has been working on the English ancestry of Maryland families, and the research has sometimes led to royal families. The second edition of Mr. Stuart's book uses the extensive research of the late Augustine H. Ayers and G. Andrews Moriarty, and has been checked against the Europäische Stammtafeln, by Detlev Schwennicke, the definitive work on royalty today. Each line of descent given in the book contains coded citations to references given in full in the 43 page Bibliography. Since royals seldom had family names, the index contains first names. A worthwhile book that libraries and researchers interested in the topic will want to have.

BOOK NOTES

Ancestry's Red Book (Second Edition). Ed. by Alice Eicholz. Salt Lake City: Ancestry, 1992. Pp. vi, 858. Indexed. illus. $39.95 plus $5.00 S&H.

The second edition opens with a section on how to use the book, and sections on different kinds of records (Census, Probate, Vital, etc.). There follows a chapter on each state discussing the kinds of records available in the state. There is a chart for each state showing the name of the county, address of the court house, date formed, parent county, and beginning dates for birth, death, marriage, land, probate and court records. There is a map of each state showing counties, county seats, and the counties in the surrounding states, and each state's article has numerous bibliographies. As in any book of this magnitude, errors are bound to creep in, and the editor encourages readers to submit any corrections for future editions.

Land Records of Wicomico County, Maryland, 1666-1810. By Ruth t. Dryden. (2nd Printing) Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1992. 486 pp. Indexed. $35.00 + $2.50 s/h.

Mrs. Dryden used land and will records of Somerset and Worcester County to compile an alphabetical list of Wicomico County tracts, and how ownership evolved from the first patentee through subsequent owners down to 1810. Some tracts only have one entry; others cover a page or more. The book is a necessity for anyone researching Eastern Shore families.

Maryland Calendar of Wills, 1753-1760; Volume II. Westminster: Family Line Pubs., 1992. Pp. iv, 370. Indexed. $22.00.

This volume is another in the excellent series which continues the series begun by Jane Baldwin Cotton. The index not only lists proper names, but place names (e.g., tracts and streams). It is an essential addition to genealogical libraries.

More Maryland Deponents, 1716-1799. By Henry C. Peden, Jr. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1992. Pp. iv, 123. $9.50.

This is the second volume in the series of depositions begun by the compiler. Land commissions from Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Caroline, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Kent, Prince George's, Queen Anne's, Somerset and Talbot County have been combed to produce the entries in this book. Some entries merely give the name and age of the deponent on a certain date, with the citation, but other entries contain information on the lives of the deponent, his/her relatives and neighbors. Anyone researching Maryland families will want to have this book.

THE CAREER OF RENALDO MONK, CONVICT

Renaldo Monk was born c.1702, giving his age as 52 in 1754 (Peden, More Maryland Deponents, citing Balto. Co. Land Commissions, 1:40). He died in Baltimore County in 1769. He came into Maryland as a convict and died a man of considerable property.

In 1742 Rinaldo Monk of Wiltshire was sentenced to 14 years transportation to Virginia (Coldham, Complete Book of Emigrants in Bondage, p. 559). He was living in Prince George's Co., (near the Patuxent Iron Works), Maryland by 1747 when he advertised for a runaway mulatto (Green, The Maryland Gazette, issue of 11 Aug. 1747, p. 38). On 6 July 1748, living near Mr. Snowden's Iron works at Patuxent, he reported a runaway servant from the Baltimore Iron Works (Ibid., p. 49).

he moved to Baltimore County and married, some time before 28 July 1755, Rachel, executrix of Edward Riston (Barnes, Balto. co. Families, p. 453).

Monk died in Baltimore County leaving a will dated 20 Sept. 1768, proved 14 Aug. 1769. To sons Renaldo and William he left 1 shilling each. Daughter Sarah Carreck and grandson George Carreck were to have £ 30 and £ 20 respectively. His daughter Mary was to have 125 acres of Cook's Adventure Resurveyed, 26 or 27 a., part Angel's Fortune, 20 a. Monk's Discovery, and the residue of his personal estate. Henry Reaston and daughter Mary were to be co-executors. Richard Gott, Anthony Gott and John Adam Beard were witnesses. (Balto. Co. Wills, 3:123).

Administration bond on his estate was posted 14 Aug. 1769 by Henry Reaston with Richard and Anthony Gott as sureties (Balto. co. Admin. Bonds 2:239).

In 1770 Henry Reaston, his executor, compiled a list of debts owing the estate worth £ 63.4.11. Reaston filed the list on 10 Dec. 1770 (Skinner, Abstracts of Maryland Inventories, 1769-1772, p. 50). Reaston administered the estate on 10 Dec. 1770, 9 July 1771, and 13 Feb. 1775 (Balto. Co. Admin. Accounts, 6:225, 253, and 7:110).

Mary, dau. of Rinaldo Monk "late of the City of London in that part of Great Britain called England, by Rachel his wife . . .," married William Jacob on 19 July 1772 at Ranger's Forest (Reamy and Reamy, Records of St. Paul's Parish, 1:37-38).

THE EDITOR'S CORNER

The editor is pleased to announce that this issue of the Notebook contains three articles, all by members of the Society. Although other articles are on file awaiting publication, we can still use contributions from members.

The PEABODY LIBRARY has new hours: Mon-Fri.: 9:00-3:00. Sat. (after Labor Day), 9:00-3:00. Persons using the Library are reminded to check the computer catalog JANUS for books cataloged since 1 Feb. 1989. The card catalogs contain books cataloged before that date.

Budget cuts have forced the MARYLAND STATE ARCHIVES to announce that no records can be serviced between 12:00 and 1:00 on weekdays. Patrons may still use the microfilm and card indexes as well as books on the reference shelves. The Archives has instituted a new policy of signing up for microfilm readers for 2 hours at a time. This enables everyone to have a chance to use the readers. The Volunteer Program is flourishing, but more volunteers are welcome. Contact Pat Melville if you can help. Recent acquisitions include the Baltimore City's Voter Registration Lists for 1838 and 1839. More and more materials are being indexed on the computers.

The MARYLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY now has the 1920 Census for Maryland, with the accompanying Soundex Index.

WHO WAS MARY "WHAT'S HER NAME?"

by Mary M. Bell

When Thomas Bennett wrote his will on 19 Feb. 1764 (proved 16 April 1764), he named his twelve children and his wife Mary (Balto. Co. Wills, 2:170). Who was Mary before she married: One clue is that her mother was Sarah Walker, who, as Sarah, widow of Joseph Walker, dec., gave, for natural love and affection, to her son-in-law Thomas Bennett a tract of land on 18 March 1759 (AA Land Records, BB#2, 222). Although some researchers have assumed that Mrs. Thomas Bennett was the former Mary Walker, daughter of Joseph and Sarah, there is no evidence to support this assumption.

Joseph Walker sold land on 1 Nov. 1746, and although the deed named his heirs, no wife Sarah was named (AA Land Records RB#2, 285). He was married to Sarah by Nov. 1752 when she is mentioned in a sale of land (AALR RB#3, 561). By tracing the ownership of this land, one is brought to the Barber family. On 14 Dec. 1719 John Barber and wife Sarah were conveyed 122 acres of land in AA Co., parts of Pinkstone's Fancy and Barber's Addition, from Peter and Elizabeth Pinkstone. Peter was the brother of Sarah Barber (AALR CW#1, 129).

The will of John Barber, filed in AA Co. on 4 March 1729/30, gave the land to his two sons. John was to have Pinkstone's Fancy and 10 a. of Barber's Addition, while the residue of the latter tract went to son Samuel. John Barber also named his wife Sarah, and daughters Elizabeth, Magalen, and Mary (MD Will Book 20:95). In Aug. 1750 John Barber, Jr., sold his inherited land to Joseph Walker (AALR RB#3, 303). On 23 Nov. 1752 Joseph and Sarah Walker, and Samuel Barber sold the 122 acres for 78 pounds (AALR RB#3, 561).

These deeds would make it appear that both Joseph and Sarah had been previously married and that their marriage took place between Nov. 1746 and Nov. 1752, and probably before Aug. 1750. Since Joseph disposed of his furniture in the 1746 sale, one could easily assume that a move was planned. Joseph Walker died in 1758 (AA Admin. Bonds, Box 60, folder 43). Joseph and Sarah had been acquainted for a long time as the inventory of John Barber's estate listed two years of service owed by Joseph Walker (MD Inventories 16:343).

Could Mrs. Thomas Bennett be the former Mary Barber, daughter of John and Sarah (Pinkstone) Barber? The deeds tend to lead to that conclusion. Other supporting evidence comes from the names given to the Bennett children. None of the six sons was named Joseph, but there was a John and a Samuel. Three of the daughters were given the Barber names of Sarah, Elizabeth, and Mary, although no Bennett daughter was named Magalen.

The time frame fits as the marriage of John Barber and Sarah Pinkstone [sic] took place on 23 April 1710 (All Hallows Parish Register). Thomas and Mary Bennett must have been married 25 or 26 years later as their second child, Ann, was b. 9 Feb. 1738 (Bennett Cemetery, Oakland Road, Carroll Co.). This date is probably from the Julian Calendar, which was in use at the time, and which would translate into 1739.

Another connection between the Barbers and the Bennetts was a debt owed by Thomas Bishop (who m. Elizabeth Barber) to Thomas Bennett. Thomas Bishop and Elizabeth Barber were married on 25 May 1730 (All Hallows Parish Reg.). In 1741 Thomas Bishop owed £30.18.0 to Thomas Bennett (ALR RB#1, 68).

Although Mrs. Thomas Bennett has not yet been definitely proved to be a daughter of John and Sarah (Pinkstone) Barber, enough circumstantial evidence has been presented to make this a very strong possibility.

MACHINERY SHOP EMPLOYEES OF THE BALTIMORE & SUSQUEHANNA RAILROAD, c.1850
by Jean K. Brandau

Many riders on Baltimore's new Light Rail System are unaware that they are - in reality - travelling over an old route which has served the area between Baltimore City on the south and York, Pennsylvania, on the north for many years.

In the recent past, this railway was known as the Northern Central railway, which route has been properly researched and described in Robert L. Gunnarson's The Story of the Northern Central Railway (Sykesville: Greenberg Publishing, $39.95).

Before the line was the Northern Central, however, it was known as the Baltimore and Susquehanna Railroad. Founded just one year after the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, it carried anthracite to the Chesapeake Bay, as well as grain, lumber, and passengers. In its shorter form, as the Parkton Local, the railway carried thousands of Maryland commuters, depositing them at the Calvert Station, or the 1865 freight station now known as the Downtown Athletic Club.

The Baltimore & Susquehanna carried President Abraham Lincoln in both life and death. It helped the Pennsylvania Railroad build its Baltimore tunnels; however, by 1914 the latter had taken over the line, and by 1991, it was reduced to a 13-mile Conrail industrial spur.

The Calvert Station Manuscript, MS. # 189, at the Maryland Historical Society, contains some cornerstone papers, several Annual reports dating from the 1850's, and a list of Persons Employed in the Machinery Department of the Baltimore & Susquehanna Railroad. These workers are listed below, giving their names and occupations. The compiler thanks the Manuscript Division of the Maryland Historical Society for permission to publish the list.

Baltimore County

Baltimore County Overseers of Roads, 1693-1793. By Henry C. Peden, Jr., M.A. Westminster: Family Line Pubs., Pp. iv, 117. Indexed. $10.00 plus $1.50 p/h.

A new volume of Baltimore County source records is always welcome, and Mr. Peden's new book will be helpful to anyone chasing those illusive ancestors who settled on the Patapsco, Gunpowder and Susquehanna watersheds. Road overseers were charged with the responsibility of keeping the roads open, and when they were appointed the records gave a detailed description of what the district for which they were responsible. For example in 1772 Samuel Griffith was appointed overseer of the road from Mr. James Philips' plantation to the middle of Level bridge over Mosketo Creek, and from Henry Vansickle's to the middle of Long Bridge over Cranbury Swamp near Edward Garrettson's plantation. This description contains the name of three other people who lived in the area and several manmade and natural features. The book is enhanced by a full name index and by a map prepared by the late William B. Marye showing the streams and watercourses of Baltimore County, with the approximate sites of several early tracts. The Introduction lists the sources used in compiling the book refers the reader to other materials which may be of interest. The book is a must-have for local historians.

Bibliographies

Genealogies Cataloged by the Library of Congress Since 1986; With a List of Established Forms of Family Names, And a List of Genealogies Converted to Microform Since 1983. Washington: Cataloging Distribution Services, library of Congress, 1991. Pp. viii, 1349. Price: $70.00.

This book is the latest in a series of bibliographies of family histories in the Library of Congress. Earlier volumes were published in 1910, 1972 (2 volumes), 1977, and 1986. Unlike the first volume, which was called American and English Genealogies in the Library of Congress (1910), the present work lists family histories published in, or dealing with families in, North and South America, Europe, the former Soviet Union, and the Middle East. Not all of the family histories are in the English language. Part 1 contains almost 9000 family histories cataloged since 1986, plus many earlier works that have had revised cataloging. Entries are arranged under family name, and then by author. Full bibliographical data is given including the Library of Congress call number. If a volume covers multiple families, the book is entered under each surname.

Section II contains over 10,000 authorized forms of surnames and another 22,000 cross references for variant spellings. The preferred form is always printed in bold. Several abbreviations are used, and are explained in the Introduction.

Section III contains family histories put on microform since 1983. These are arranged by Call Number order, which determines the country of origin, and then the family. Most of the titles are in the CS 71 class which is used for families in the United States. Since many older genealogies were printed on paper that is becoming more and more brittle, the microform copies preserve the information, and can be borrowed on Inter-Library Loan. Researchers may purchase paper or microfilm copies of these volumes.

Because so many older family histories have been reissued, or recataloged, or put on microform, this volume contains many more titles than those published in the last five or six years.

Researchers must know what has been published before, and if a book has been published, they will want to know how to acquire a copy. This volume will make their job much easier. Libraries must have this book, and genealogists working on a large number of families will find this an invaluable addition to their personal libraries. It is a wonderful resource and well worth the price.

several generations. He has used primary and secondary sources, and has enhanced the book with maps of the English communities from whence these settlers came, as well as illustrations of English parish churches. Copies of this attractive book may be ordered from heritage Books.

A Dictionary of Scottish Emigrants to the U. S. A. Comp. and ed. by Donald Whyte. 1972. Repr. : Baltimore: Clearfield Co., 1992. Pp. xiv, 504. Indexed. $37.50.

The compiler used scores of sources to compile an extremely helpful catalog of Scottish Emigrants from the 17th to the late 19th centuries. Each entry, some of which are quite detailed, gives biographical data of the emigrant, and gives the source from which the material is drawn. The sources used include Scottish and American materials. Maryland is well represented. There are two indexes: one of persons and one of places of origin. Persons interested in Scottish immigration will find this book extremely helpful.

In Search of Hamish McBagpipes : A Concise Guide to Scottish Genealogy. By Douglas Bruce Goldie. Heritage Books Inc.: Bowie Md. 1.992, 116 pp. $15.00 postpaid.

Mr. Goldie has compiled a practical and informative new guide that can be utilized in any ethnic research project. His approach encompasses the areas of all genealogical resources and provides the reader with helpful suggestions from the beginning to the end of their project. The author begins his instruction with a detailed reminder of the knowledge we already have both in our memories and those of living family members. By beginning the work at this point and filling in the blanks with interviews and biographies, the researcher gains a wealth of clues that will lead him/her to the public and private sources for additional data. From this point, Mr. Goldie focuses his instruction on securing data related to Scottish ancestry, but his working knowledge of American source material on that subject can be applied to any overseas search. Of additional note, the author advises an understanding of the history and geography of Scotland that in turn will aid the researcher in maximizing their search of records that may have been generated during a given time frame. Also included are definitions of terms found in tax records, legal proceedings and minute books. This volume is complete with a bibliography, charts and addresses of repositories. Mr. Goldie has produced a first class work.

Maryland

Quaker Records of Southern Maryland; Births, Deaths, Marriages, and Abstracts from the Minutes, 1658-1800. By Henry C. Peden, Jr., M. A. Westminster: Family Line Pubs., 1992. Pp. vi, 116. Indexed; illus. $10.00.

The Vital Statistics from West River, Clifts, and Sandy Spring Monthly Meetings have been compiled to produce another important volume in the growing library of published Maryland vital records. With his customary thoroughness, Mr. Peden has included the names of all the witnesses to the marriages. In addition the minutes of monthly meetings (held alternately at Clifts and West River) for 1677-1771 have been included, giving much essential information on the movements and religious activities of members of the meetings. A map prepared by the compiler shows the location of various meetings in Charles, Calvert, Prince George's, Anne Arundel and Montgomery Counties. Researchers looking for Southern Maryland families must have this book.

West Virginia

Greenbrier County Marriages 1782-1900; Greenbrier County [W] Virginia Records Volume IV. By Larry G. Shuck. Iberian Publishing Co., Athens Ga. 1991. 3 vols. 997 pp. $49.95 plus $3.50 p/h.

To the genealogist the thrill of finding a marriage record is like grabbing the golden ring on the carousel for to be able to prove an ancestral marriage is to forge a positive link in the chain of descent. The recent publishing boom of genealogical source material has resulted in a wealth of available marriage records for researchers. This addition West Virginia genealogical material goes far beyond the standard lists of those marriages as the compiler has laboriously abstracted 118 years of data from the records of Greenbrier County. Larry G. Shuck has brought together the resources of several court record books and has corrected lists typed by the WPA in the 1930's and later published by the Greenbrier Historical Society. Throughout this work, Mr. Shuck has made every attempt to include all pertinent data including age and place of birth of the bride and groom, and parents of the same if noted. He has checked and double checked entries that are unclear and is wise enough to advise that questionable abstracts be clarified by contacting the courthouse.

This three volume set is cross referenced with separate alphabetical listings by bride and groom, a full name index that will pick up others in the records and tables indicating the numbers of persons with the same name who marries in the county and the frequency of those marriages. Mr. Shuck has added an impressive work to the published finding aides of [W] Virginia source material.

Copies may be ordered from the Iberian Publishing Co., 548 Cedar Creek Drive, Athens, GA 30605-3408.

NATURALIZATION OF MINORS
Baltimore County Court, 1846 - 1851
by Patricia Dockman Anderson

Naturalization records are often the only definitive proof of the birthplace of an immigrant ancestor. Researchers have long been aware of the value of immigration and naturalization sources, and with this article we hope to provide our readers with another category of records that will aid their work.

In 1820 the federal government began to regulate immigration, and by 1822 the naturalization laws were amended to aid applicants who had arrived in the United States as children. By this amendment an alien who arrived as a minor was able to file a petition for naturalization when he became twenty one years of age without filing a declaration of intent (Archivist Bulldog [Md. State arch.], Vol. 1 (August 1987) # 22). The residency requirements remained basically the same as for other applicants whereby the alien has lived "three years preceding arriving at age twenty one, five years in the United States including the three of his minority and a resident for one year minimum of the State of Maryland (Maryland State Archives, Baltimore County Court Naturalization of Minors BA 0392 Book 3 1846-1851, p.1).

The added value of these records is that with the knowledge of the residency requirements and the date of the certificate it is possible to approximate the age of the applicant. There are also many cases when the witnesses who appeared in court had the same surname as the applicant which could aid the researcher in linking other family members. This list of naturalization certificates was abstracted from the original volume at the Maryland State Archives. A random sampling of these abstracts against the card file indexes 43 & 44 showed that while some of these entries are in the indexes an equal number are not. The reader is also reminded that until 1922 the wife of a man who was naturalized automatically acquired citizenship.

These records are the first in the series of the three volumes found at The Maryland State Archives. Future issues of the Notebook will carry additional abstracts as space permits.

Records of St. Paul's Cemetery, 1855-1946; Located at Druid Hill Park, Baltimore City, Maryland. By Elaine Obbink Zimmerman and Kenneth Edwin Zimmerman. S.l., s.n., n.d. Pp. vi, 92 Indexed.

This volumes contains translations of the burial records of the cemetery, which were abstracted from the Register of the Deceased in the New cemetery, St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Community. The cemetery is currently owned and maintained by the Martini Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Introduction gives a history of the cemetery. The entries in the book are arranged by cemetery lot, and give the name of the deceased, age, and date of death. Occasionally information is given on cause of death and marital status. In the case of children the father's name is given. Great care was exercised in the translation of German script into English and the result is an extremely helpful book. The compilers are donating all royalties to the cemetery restoration fund and individuals who wish to make a contribution to this fund may send contributions to the Martini Evangelical Lutheran Church, Henrietta and Hanover Streets, Baltimore, MD, 21230. Copies of the book may be ordered from Family Line Publications.

Maryland County Sources

Abstracts from the Port Tobacco Times and Charles County Advertiser. By Roberta J. Wearmouth. Bowie: Heritage Books, Inc. 1990, 192. Volume 1, 1844-1854. PP. viii, 214. Illus., Indexed. $20.00 + 3.00 p/h. Volume 2, 1855-1869. PP. 216. Illus., Indexed. $18.00 + $3.00 p/h.

Both of these volumes contain many entries beyond marriages and deaths, that one is able to build up a picture of life in rural Maryland before, during, and after the Civil War. Legal and social notices give glimpses of the day to day activities of Charles County residents. Although many issues for the period 1861-1868 are missing, the volumes are still worthwhile. Various lists of names assist in locating individuals. The full name index refers to the page of the volume where the name is found.

Frederick County Militia in the War of 1812. By Sallie A. Mallick and F. Edward Wright. Westminster: Family Line Pubs., n.d. PP. vii, 483. Illus., Indexed. $28.50 ($30.00 postpaid).

This volume describes the service records of some 3000 men of Frederick County, Maryland, who served in the War of 1812. Introductory chapters describe militia organization, units activated in 1812, natives of Frederick County who enlisted in the regular army, specially formed units, Battles of Bladensburg and Baltimore, and desertions and British prisoners. The bulk of the book describes the service records of the soldiers, but in many cases, additional information from newspapers and pension records have been added. The full name index adds to the usefulness of the book. Not only is the text of the book valuable for individuals, but the introductory material adds to one's knowledge of the period.

Newspaper Abstracts of Frederick County, 1811-1815. By F. Edward Wright. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1992. PP. vi, 206. Indexed. $12.50.

The book contains information taken from Frederick County newspapers on microfilm at the Maryland Historical Society. The entries are arranged chronologically for each newspaper, and each issue of a paper is numbered. Items in the index refer to the number of the issue, and not to the page number. Not only are vital statistics included, but legal and social notices have been abstracted, making for fascinating reading. In the Frederick Town Herald of 19 January 1811 one Louis B. Appollo hopes his creditors will give him "further indulgence" and offers himself to any gentleman as cook, pastry cook, or baker. In The Hornet of 15 May 1811, Appollo complains about the malicious ill designing person who has been at the trouble of turning a neighbor's cow into his garden. In 1813 Appollo, now a baker living at the South end of Market St., offered a reward of $5.00 to anyone who brought to justice persons who knocked him and robbed him of about 40 cents (Bartgis' Republican Gazette, 3 April 1813).

Precolonial Lineages

Ancestral Roots of certain American Colonists Who Came to America Before 1700. By Frederic Lewis Weis. Seventh Edition, with Additions and Corrections by Walter Lee Sheppard, Jr., Assisted by David Faris. Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Company, Inc., 1992. PP. xx, 253. Indexed.

Ever since the first edition was published in 1950, Mr. Weis, and then Mr. Sheppard have constantly striven to correct any errors and to add new lineages. A number of new lines have been added to this volume including the lineages of Marylanders Mary Wolseley (Mrs. Robert) Brooke, Alicia Arnold (Mrs. John) Ross, and Thomas Gerard. The entries for each generation contain the references for that generation, making this far superior to the works of Browning and Wurts. This is an important addition in the field of royal ancestry.

D. in colonial history from Harvard, has compiled a volume of essays detailing in Part One, the establishment of the Anglican Church in Maryland, the worship practices of colonial Marylanders, and the establishment of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Maryland. In Part Two he examines the histories of the thirty original parishes created by the Act of Establishment in 1692. Abstracts of the Inventories and Accounts of the Prerogative Court of Maryland. By Vernon L. Skinner. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1992. 1695-1701 (Libers 9. 10, 1011, 11a, 11b). Pp. iv, 137. 1688-1698 (Libers 12, 13A, 13B. 14, 15). Pp. iv, 135. $12.00. 1697-1700 (Libers 16. 17, 18. 19, 19 1/2 A. 19 1/2 B). Pp. iv, 90. $10.00. All volumes indexed.

These volumes are an excellent supplement to the early volumes of the Maryland Calendar of Wills, in that they contain abstracts of inventories and administration accounts of Marylanders who died testate or intestate. Names of all debtors and creditors are shown so that it is possible to locate individuals in a given county before their death. In addition to providing information on the estates of early Marylanders, these volumes provide welcome clues to the marriages and remarriages of Maryland women.

Ship Passenger Lists: The South (1538-1825). Edited and Indexed by Carl Boyer, 3rd. (1979). Repr.: Westminster: Family Line, 1992. Pp. 314. Indexed. $22.00.

Persons seeking information on immigrant ancestors may want to consult this volume, originally published by the compiler in 1979. Passenger Lists and Immigration Records for many colonies are included in this volume. There are indices for ship names, place names, personal names, and variant surname spellings, all of which enhance the usefulness of the book.
