Dear Members,

After fifteen years of editing our quarterly publication The Notebook, Robert Barnes has retired in order to devote more time to his research and books. We all wish him the greatest success and thank him for the outstanding job he did.

The Notebook is now being compiled by the Publications Committee assisted by the Computer Users Group. We are looking forward to contributions from this energetic and hard working team. We are also anxious to hear from any of you who would like to contribute your research for publication.

In this issue, we are proud to present three items from members of BCGS. Our lead article, the "George Louis Campbell Family Bible" was researched and prepared by Pat Czerniewski and Carol Porter. Pat and Carol went above and beyond abstracting the data in this Bible to supplement it with research notes from obituaries, marriage licenses and reference books. The editorial staff would like to thank them both for a job well done!

We are also pleased to bring you the final installments of two previous articles. "Baltimore County Death Records 1902-1903" by Eleanor Lukanich and "Naturalization of Minors Baltimore County Court, 1846-1851" by Patricia Dockman Anderson. Queries and Book Reviews which will appear in the next issue.

RESEARCH NOTES

GEORGE LOUIS CAMPBELL FAMILY BIBLE

John Sroud and Susan Carroll were married by license¹ on 13 May 1838.² Rev. Jesse Chesney, a Meth. Epis. minister, officiated.³ The bible marriage date of 1837 is therefore incorrect. Born in Maryland, John Sroud lived at 392 Harford avenue, Baltimore City, occupation rope maker.⁴ His mother, Mrs. Rachel Sroud, also resided at this address in 1835⁵ and at the time of her death on 08 Aug 1854.⁶ When John Sroud died on 02 Nov 1863, in the 48th year of his age, he was associated with the Harford avenue Sabbath School.⁷

Henrietta E. P. Sroud, daughter of John and Susan, was married to George Louis Campbell on 08 Mar 1858 by Rev. Richard Hinkle,⁸ a Meth. Epis. minister.⁹

George Louis Campbell, son of William and Philippena, was a Baltimore City police officer.¹⁰ George¹¹ and Henrietta¹² Campbell are buried in Greenmount Cemetery, Baltimore City. Henrietta was buried from the home of her son-in-law, Chris. P. Amendt, who lived in Hamilton, Dist. #4, Baltimore County.¹³

William E. Campbell and Philippena Sprinkle were married by license dated 10 May 1831 and the minister was Rev. Kurtz.¹⁴

The Brown Family
Philadelphia to Baltimore County
by
Margaret Smith Keigler

WILLIAM BROWN was born in Plymouth Township, Philadelphia County, 25 December 1753. (Note: The names of his parents have not yet been determined).

He was educated, was a merchant in shipping and was a blacksmith. He lived some time in an area of Philadelphia called Pegg's Run which emptied into the Delaware at Willow Street wharf. This area is referred to in letters written by his son WILLIAM BROWN JR. talking about where he spent his childhood.

On 4 April in 1775, WILLIAM BROWN married ANNE MC SWENEY, almost five years his senior. She was born 1 February 1748 in Abington Township, Philadelphia County (now Montgomery County). Anne was the daughter of COLIN MC SWENEY and his wife ELIZABETH CRIGHTON who lived on Moreland Manor and married by the Abington Presbyterian minister 22 December 1741. ELIZABETH CRIGHTON MC SWENEY was the mother of all the MC SWENEY children. She died before August 1757, as on that date COLON married second AGNES LOCKERT who survived him.

COLON MC SWENEY was listed in the 1769 tax list of Philadelphia County as owning 150 acres, three horses, and two cattle. He died on Moreland and left a will which was proved 27 March 1777 naming one son JOHN and three daughters ELIZABETH who married WILLIAM WOOD, MARGARET who married JAMES MATHERS and ANNE who married WILLIAM BROWN, SR. (JANE MC SWENEY, a daughter of JOHN and granddaughter of COLON, is later named in the will of WILLIAM BROWN, SR. as she had lived with them for some years prior to his death in 1830). It is believed that JOHN MC SWENEY married three times; 1773 to RACHEL BILLIEU, 1777 to SUSANNA BREDEN and 1783 to ELIZABETH MATHERS all of the Abington area.

WILLIAM BROWN SR. served in the Continental Army as a first lieutenant, ninth regiment, Pennsylvania Line. He was assigned to Captain Erwin's company 2 December 1776. The first child of WILLIAM BROWN and ANNE MC SWENEY BROWN whom they named John, was born 26 March 1776 before his father was called up to join in the fight against England in the American Revolution.

There were four other children born to WILLIAM and ANNE BROWN: MARY, born 25 November 1778 and who died 27 February 1780; ELIZABETH, born 28 December 1779 and later married JOHN WORKMAN a merchant of Philadelphia; WILLIAM BROWN JR., born 9 August 1782 and later married to SUSANNA BIAYS; and JOEL, born 29 January 1785, dead by March 1809 as a surviving letter from WILLIAM BROWN, JR. to his mother in Philadelphia states from Baltimore, that he and his father "are making arrangements to remove Joel's body". Joel may very well have died on shipboard.

JOHN BROWN, the first child and oldest son of WILLIAM and ANNE MC SWENEY BROWN, married 20 January 1804 to ANNE SMITH by the Second Presbyterian minister in Philadelphia. I can find no evidence that they had any children. John was a merchant and spent a lot of time in Baltimore. When he died (will filed 26 March 1855) in Philadelphia, he was living with in late father's house at 21 Green St. His wife ANNE (sometimes called ANNA) survived him and died 3 May 1863 in Philadelphia.

ELIZABETH BROWN, sister of WILLIAM BROWN, JR., married JOHN WORKMAN 17 May 1804 by the minister of the Second Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. Workman was a well to do merchant and builder of houses. They lived in the Southwark district of Philadelphia and had seven children. John Workman died 12 February 1827 and his wife Elizabeth Brown Workman lived many more years, dying 17 May 1857. Their children were: WILLIAM BROWN WORKMAN, ISABELLA WORKMAN, JAMES CLARK WORKMAN, EDMUND (EDWARD?) WORKMAN, HENRY WEIR WORKMAN, JOHN WORKMAN and ANN ELISA WORKMAN.

WILLIAM BROWN, SR. lived at 21 Green St. in Philadelphia which is no longer in existence due to the expressway. He was a member of the Second Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia. He was educated as were the children and had numerous shipping interests, including building skills and financial interests. ANNE MC SWENEY BROWN died 26 August 1828 and WILLIAM on 9 March 1830 with a will. His will was written in 1820 and in it he is referred to as a blacksmith, as with his skill he made parts for ships. The will was made when his wife was still alive and all was left to her. If she had died by then, all was to go to the three remaining children, JOHN, ELIZABETH WORKMAN, and WILLIAM BROWN, JR., and to JANE MC SWENEY, niece of ANNE MC SWENEY, in equal quarters. By this time WILLIAM BROWN JR., had also died.

The inventory of the contents of the house shows seven rooms and a kitchen, a lot of furniture, oil paintings, looking glasses, brass pieces and a little silver. Certainly a very well furnished house of an upper middle class family.

WILLIAM BROWN, JR., born 9 August 1782 married 21 June 1810 by REV. Glendy to SUSANNA BIAYS (daughter of COL. JOSEPH BIAYS and MARY MCMULLEN) born in Baltimore. He was a merchant and at one time in partnership with Charles N. Taylor selling lumber and other dry goods in Baltimore. Both JOSEPH BIAYS and MARY MCMULLEN were born and married in Philadelphia.

WILLIAM and SUSANNA BIAYS BROWN had three children: MARY BIAYS BROWN, born 7 April 1811 in Baltimore; WILLIAM BIAYS BROWN, born 17 November 1818 in Philadelphia and JOSEPH BIAYS BROWN, born December 1820 and died January 1821 in Philadelphia. All three children were baptized at Second Presbyterian in Philadelphia.

WILLIAM BROWN, JR. was a captain in the army during the War of 1812 and was present during the firing on Fort McHenry. After the war he seems to have traveled rather frequently between Ireland and American ports as well as taking his family between Baltimore and Philadelphia to visit relatives. Some years after the war his business partnership failed during the economic depression (1819) and everything he owned, including his home, went into bankruptcy. COL. JOSEPH BIAYS bought their furniture at auction and gave it to them and they lived for a while with him at "Stock Hill" in the Eastern part of Baltimore County.

WILLIAM BROWN, JR. died at his father's home at 21 Green St. in Philadelphia on 21 July, 1827. He had spent the last part of his life looking for employment, including being rejected for a job with the Bank of the United States in Philadelphia which made him quite bitter and discouraged. He died intestate and probably owned nothing at the time. His wife, SUSANNA BIAYS BROWN inherited the fourth of WILLIAM Sr.'s estate when he died in 1830 that would have gone to her husband.

Certainly SUSANNA BIAYS BROWN may have continued to live in her father-in law's house in Philadelphia at least part of the time and part with relatives and friends in Fells Point. When he died in 1830, she had decisions to make about the future of her children. MARY BIAYS BROWN married JAMES WALTER TOLLEY 15 March 1832 and both her mother SUSANNA and her brother WILLIAM BIAYS BROWN lived with them at "Islae of Caprea" in Harford County. WILLIAM BIAYS BROWN received instructions from the minister of Chestnut Grove Presbyterian Church on Sweet Air Rd. in northern Baltimore County and was a member when it was newly formed. He went on to graduate from Jefferson College in Pennsylvania and then to Union Seminary in Virginia. He was in New York City by 9 August 1849 when he married SARAH S. ROCKWELL. The ceremony was performed by her brother Rev. Dr. WILLIAM ROCKWELL.

WILLIAM BIAYS BROWN as a Presbyterian minister served in many churches in the south and midwest United States. He and Sarah had five known children: WILLIAM WARREN BROWN, born 15 September 1850 and died 14 May 1936 unmarried; SUSAN WITHERSPOON BROWN, born 23 June 1852 and died 14 May 1933 unmarried; ANNA SNYDER BROWN, born 4 December 1856 and died 20 May 1896 unmarried; EDWARD ROCKWELL BROWN, born 17 August 1859 and died 10 February 1939, having married AMELIA CLAUSEN MORRELL. Their mother SUSAN SNYDER ROCKWELL was born 2 June 1826 and died 5 October 1887. REV. WILLIAM BIAYS BROWN died 23 June 1892. They are buried in the Mt. Vernon cemetery in Philadelphia.

SUSAN BIAYS BROWN died at the home of her daughter MARY BIAYS BROWN TOLLEY on 22 August 1840. The service was performed by the rector of St. James My Lady's Manor and she was buried on the Tolley farm. When the property was later sold, all of the graves were moved to the "Old Brick" churchyard in Harford County.

The Brown family had originally been buried in the cemetery of the Second Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia. Due to the building of the expressway, the graves were moved to Mt. vernon cemetery. There is no record of the graves, stones or reinterments for this family.

JANE (N) WAITES DIXON LONG
An Umbilical Genealogy

by Robert W. Barnes

The purpose of this article is to trace the descendants in the female line of an ancestress of mine. Jane (N) married three times, and I am able so far to trace my descent from two of her husbands.

The original basis for this article was my own Baltimore County Families, 1659-1759, designated as (A). Other sources are described in the text.

Forged By Fire. Maryland's National Guard at the Great Baltimore Fire of 1904 by Dean K. Yates (Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1992) 115 pp. indexed. $9.50

Activated on February 7, 1904 for 17 days, over 2,000 guardsmen patrolled the burned out district of Baltimore City. This fascinating narrative gives the reader a detailed account of their many duties and the hardships they endured. A roster of 1,870 guardsmen is included. Researchers will find interesting anecdotes.

Maryland Marriages 1801-1820 compiled by Robert W. Barnes (Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Company 1993). 247pp. indexed. $25

With this third volume of Maryland marriage records Mr. Barnes has once again given genealogists a valuable research tool. The same format is used as in the previous two volumes covering the years 1634-1777 and 1778-1800. Arranged alphabetically by the name of the groom with a surname index for all other individuals, these marriages were compiled primarily from church records held at the Maryland Historical Society and the Maryland State Archives. Several minister's returns found in the Scharf papers are also included. Maryland researchers will certainly benefit from the author's tireless efforts to assemble this latest volume of over 12,000 marriages.

BCGS BIBLE PROJECT

It is the purpose of the Baltimore County Genealogical Society to publish Bible records pertaining to local families. Information is arranged in the fashion of a family record, and in order to save space, the exact times of birth or death, and repetitious phrases have been eliminated.

Where several Bibles have been used in compiling the entry, each is designated at the beginning of the entry, and the source of specific statements is indicated by the reference letter in parentheses.

(Bibles, Cont'd)

THE PETHERBRIDGE FAMILY

Information on this family is taken from several sources found at the Maryland Historical Society. The sources are photocopies of several Bibles and family records. The source of specific statements is indicated by the reference letter in parentheses. Numbers have been assigned to each individual for ease in identification.

- A) The HOLY BIBLE.... Philadelphia: Mathew Carey, 1810. MHS has photo-copies of original pages.
- B) the HOLY BIBLE.... New York: Pratt, Woodford & Co., 1846. MHS has photocopy of the original pages. The page of Family Records is inscribed "Transcribed from my father's Bible."
- C) Family record of 8 pages including handwritten notes and newspaper clippings on the family of John Fletcher Petherbridge

1. John C. Petherbridge was born 13 Oct. 1776 at Dartmouth, Old England (A; B). Anne Cockshott, his wife, was born 30 April 1787 at Philadelphia (A; B). Clipping: "Veteran of Two Wars" Sudden Death of Major Petherbridge: Service to His Country. Major Edward R. Petherbridge, a well known Republican, dropped dead of heart disease last night at his home, No. 36 South Fulton Avenue....He was born in Baltimore in March 1821. His father, Dr. John Petherbridge, was a well known dentist in this city. Major Petherbridge was a veteran of the War with Mexico and the War of the Rebellion. During the Mexican War he raised a battery in this city called The Voiti-geurs, but he was so active a Whig that President Polk refused to commission him, and Captain Tilghhman was given command. Major Petherbridge enlisted in the battery and went out to Mexico as an first orderly sergeant. After the war he was active in the politics of the Fourth Ward as a Whig and a Know Nothing.

He was ...on the staff of Governor Thomas Holliday Hicks, and when he ...saw the efforts being made to take the State of Maryland out of the Union, in the spring of 1861, he gathered a few men and seized the Pikesville Arsenal on April 15, to keep it from falling into the hands of the Disunionists.... He continued to serve as an aide to Governor Hicks, and raised two batteries for Purnell Legion. He went with one of them down the Eastern Shore to Accomac and Northumberland Counties. Later at his own request he was transferred to Gen. Geo. B. McClellan's army and took part in the Seven Days' Fight before Richmond....He lost his health and after a stay in the hospital was assigned to Gen. Lew Wallace, who was Provost Marshal of this city. [Details of later career are given]. He leaves a widow and no children (Found in Bible A).

Notes

1. John Ching Petherbridge, son of John and Elizabeth, was bapt. on 1 Dec. 1776 at Saint Savior, Dartmouth, Devon, England (IGI for Devon, 1988 ed.)

6. Annie E. Petherbridge, age 40, d. 28 march 1855 at the residence of an unnamed uncle in Pennington, NJ (Arps; Departed This life, cites Sun, 2 April 1855).

J. B. Petherbridge and Miss Sarah E. Nunnally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nunnally of 1844 S. Charles St., were m. last night at the bride's home by the Rev. Charles Hensel, rector of the Prot. Ep. Chapel of the Advent (clipping pasted in C).

Support Your References the GEDCOM Way

by Kenneth E. Zimmerman

It is always necessary to support your references and documenta-tion with a proper source citation. Standardization for submitting references effects our ability to share our research with each other and prove our research. Beyond citing the birth, marriage, death data and places, we need to support with proper source docu-mentation. One should cite a source or several sources to every single event. A birth date recorded from a census record may be different from a birth date on a death certificate. We may need to review the original documents to find who was the informant in order to determine which birth date is correct. The document received from our relative is a poor copy. We need to find the original document to clarify the date in question. Reviewing the original document again may benefit one to re-verify events or it may even enlighten some information that was overlooked before. With the source citation - hopefully - one can easily retrieve the documents by knowing where records were before.

All facts need documentation proof to show where the evidence was obtained. It is a frustrating situation when we have a document or event presented to us with no reference, with sources cited, when no one can locate the burden of proof. Implementing this source citation policy, future genealogists will not have to retrace many unnecessary steps. Do we want to continue to impede our current and future interested genealogist? That would be a waste of time and money. One should have the documentation with its sources cited to verify the event or data stated.

Source documentation should apply to all forms of references: birth certificates, death certificates, marriage certificates, census records, wills, probate records, land records, published and un-published material.

GEDCOM Note No. 1
Source Citations
June 2, 1993

This GEDCOM note proposes a minimum set of information fields (tags) required to contain a minimum standard source citation. The subset is taken from the comprehensive set of source citation tags defined in The GEDCOM Standard Draft Release 5.2. Standard-setting genealogical organizations world-wide are invited to review this proposed minimum set, suggest improvements by October 1, 1993, and eventually accept this guideline as part of their standards for computerized genealogists, such that any research submitted according to this guideline, if properly applied, will be acceptable as far as source citation requirements are concerned.

Future GEDCOM-compatible software programs should support at least this minimum set of fields, and where additional fields are provided, should communicate to their users which fields constitute the minimum standard source citation. Users should be enabled to provide as few or as many source citations as they desire, but they should understand that research conclusions with supporting evidence lack credibility, thus reducing the value to those who could benefit from the work.

Minimum Standard Source Citation Requirements shall be:

1. Author or creator of the record;
2. Date record was created;
3. Title or description;
4. Page number or equivalent;
5. Publisher and year of publication, if published;
6. Repository address and archive identification number (film number, etc.);
7. Type of source, identified by either the type of the event recorded in the source (birth record, death record, census, taxation. ...) or by other document types including: biography, genealogy, oral genealogy, history, family Bible, family record, newspaper, obituary, estate packet, journal, correspondence, interview, personal knowledge, tradition.

The above source citation requirements are quoted from the "GEDCOM Note No. 1 Source Citations June 2, 1993" from Correspondence GEDCOM Coordinator 3T,50 East North Temple, Salt Lake City, Utah 84150. Copy received from a banquet at the National Genealogical Conference in Baltimore, MD, 1993.

The source information should be noted on back of the documentation or entered in your computerized genealogical program.

Durbin and Logsdon Genealogy With Related Families, 1626-1991: Volume 2. By Betty Jewell Durbin Carson. Bowie: Heritage Press, 1993. Pp. x, 253. Illus., indexed. $21.00 plus $3.00 p/h.

Volume 2 contains additions and corrections to material in the author's first volume, as well as a wealth of supplemental data on early Durbins in England and the United States, especially Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia, Illinois, Missouri and Texas. In order to place the English generations in their historical context, the author has devoted the first three chapters to Early Britain, a history of the English Church, and the Pilgrim planters. Included are some entries from the International Genealogy Index, but the author prudently refrains from ascribing an unproven English ancestry to Thomas Durbin, the first settler in Baltimore County. The book is illustrated with photographs of family members, and maps of land grants. The wealth of primary source material as well as the family histories of later generations make this a worthwhile addition to the bookshelf.

Durbin-Logsdon Genealogy and Related Families: From Maryland to Kentucky. Bound in 2 books. Compiled by Betty Jewell Durbin Carson. Bowie: Heritage Books, Inc., 1993. Pp. xiv, 581. $37.50 plus 43.00 p/h.

These two books comprise the third volume of the Durbin-Logsdon Genealogy. They include portions of an unpublished manuscript by James H. and Sybil Johnson of Louisville, KY. The compiler has included wills, census and court records, and other primary sources to create an interesting family history. Other families discussed include the Bush, Duvall, French, Goodman, Hack, Hayes, Lashley, Lush, Metcalfe, Simon(s), Skees, and Tomes. Like the first two volumes, this is an excellent book that family members and students of Maryland migration will want to have.

Loudon Park Caretaker Records, A-B: 1853-1986. By Anna Miller Watring, Charles Miller, and R. Scott Johnson. Westminster: Family Line Publications, n.d. Pp. v, 215. $19.50.

Loudon Park Cemetery, established in 1853, occupies 365 acres and has over 200,000 graves including some 23,000 Union soldiers and some 650 Confederate soldiers. The information in this book was taken from caretakers' records, card files stored in the cemetery office. Data includes the name of the deceased, age, date of burial permit, section and lot numbers, and comments (such as whether the body had been removed from another cemetery). A supplemental list, provided by this reviewer, contains information from the burial permit books for 1853-1865. It sometimes gives additional information such as cause of death or country of origin. For anyone researching Baltimore area families, this book is an extremely valuable finding aid. The date of the burial permit makes it easier to find newspaper obituaries and death certificates. In addition knowing names of other family members buried in the same lot, makes it easier to reconstruct the family. Hopefully, the response to the first volume will encourage the compilers and publishers to bring out additional volumes.

Lost Marriages of Buckingham County, Virginia. Transcribed and compiled by Randy Kidd and Jeanne Stinson, (Athens: Iberian Publishing Co., 1992). softcover, index, 253 pp., price not available at review.

Randy Kidd and Jeanne Stinson have provided a great service for Virginia researchers with this volume of marriage records. The loss of Buckingham County records due to a courthouse fire in 1869 has limited genealogical research in this area, but with this work the chances of finding a marriage record in the 1854 - 1869 time frame is greatly increased.

These marriage lists were compiled from a recently recovered ledger, newspapers, bonds and banns at the Virginia Historical Society and the WPA family bible copy volumes in the county courthouse. The authors also consulted various published sources of Virginia documents to make the record they are leaving as complete as possible. This book will be a welcome companion to the volumes of Virginia source records already published and will serve as a model for other compilers.

Tracing Your Scottish Ancestry. By Kathleen B. Cory, FSA Scot. (Edinburgh: Polygon, 1990). softcover, index, 195pp., price not available at review.

This all inclusive guide to Scottish research is well done and user friendly. Ms. Cory has covered every aspect of research in her home country and includes in the Forward the interesting note that genealogical research has become so popular with tourists that it is offered as "part of the package" to tourists who can find assistance at recreation centers and some major hotels.

This step-by-step guide begins at New Register House with a look at vital records, asking basic questions and providing the answer in outline form. The author's BEWARE signals hidden twists in the record format that may otherwise cause frustration and lost time. The volume is complete with illustrations of maps and documents, and five appendixes including library addresses, terminology and an accounting of the available parish records. Well done, Ms. Cory!

A Medical Ledger of Dr. John Archer of Harford County, Maryland 1786-1796. Compiled by Henry C. Peden, Jr. (Aberdeen: Harford County Genealogical Society, Special Publication #10, 1992). softcover, price not available at review.

By virtue of a surname ending with "A", John Archer received the first medical degree conferred in America from the College of Philadelphia's Class of 1768. The following year he was practicing in Harford County and left a record that will be of interest and assistance to researchers.

Mr. Peden compiled the information in this book from ledger "F" which is housed in the Manuscripts Division of the Maryland Historical Society Library. Ledgers "D" & "E" are in the custody of the Harford County Historical Society, and Mr. Peden notes that several of Archer's ledgers are unaccounted for. The value of this work is that it offers a glimpse into the lives of early Marylanders through their accounts with their physician. The work is strictly alphabetical without an end of volume index, but given names within each surname listing provide relationships, as well as dates of treatment, residence and occupation. The Harford County Genealogical Society is to be commended for providing us with another fine source of genealogical information.

Harford County Taxpayers in 1870, 1872 and 1883. By Henry C. Peden, Jr., M.A. (Aberdeen: Harford County Genealogical Society Special Publication #11, 1992). softcover, 133 pp., $7.50 plus $1.50 postage and handling.

This latest publication from the Harford County Genealogical Society is an all in one reference to the taxpayers assessed in Harford County during the years 1870, 1872 and 1883. Mr. Peden has combined three lists in one alphabetical volume that provides the surname, year of appearance and the district of residence. The 1870 list required data from "white, male citizens"; the 1872 list from "white males"; and the 1883 list from "taxpayers". Consequently, as the years went by and the criteria became less restrictive, the opportunity to snag that ever elusive female ancestor becomes greater.

The Harford County Genealogical Society has once again shown their commitment to making the records of their county accessible to their members and to other researchers. Society membership includes (for a mere $12) two special publications a year, and respected genealogist Henry C. Peden, Jr. has volunteered his time, compiling one book each year since the project began. F. Edward Wright of Family Line Publications handles the printing of the books at his cost. Both Mr. Peden and Mr. Wright are to be commended for donating their time and experience to this effort. Congratulations to the Harford County Genealogical Society, and hats off to Peden & Wright!

Ship Passenger Lists, The South (1538-1825); edited and indexed by Carl Boyer, 3rd. (originally published 1979, reprinted Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1992). softcover, 314 pp., indexed, $24 postpaid.

Reprint fever has struck again! This volume from Family Line Publications is yet another example of retrieving these previously published works from the past and placing them once again before the public eye. The scattered class of records known to genealogists as ship passenger lists are often the most elusive sources to utilize. During the colonial era there was little or no system of keeping track of immigrants and the lists that do survive are scattered in numerous places. Many of the lists have been published in books and journals and through the outstanding efforts of Filby and Meyer are available in their series Passenger and Immigration Lists. With this volume, the third in a series, Mr. Boyer is making his contribution to the efforts of making these lists available to researchers. A compliment to this volume is the narrative which explains the circumstances of many early immigrants who arrived as convicts or indentured servants. The index is all inclusive with names of persons, ships and variant spellings. Good work, Family Line!

BCGS BIBLE PROJECT

It is the purpose of the Baltimore County Genealogical Society to publish Bible records pertaining to local families. Information is arranged in the fashion of a family reecord, and in order to save space, the exact times of birth or death, and repetitious phrases have been eliminated.

Where several Bibles have been used in compiling the entry, each is designated at the beginning of the entry, and the source of specific statements is indicated by the reference letter in parentheses.

Where appropriate, annotations to the entries have been added after the information.
