EDITOR'S NOTE

After a year's furlough, it's good to be back! This first issue of the year contains a continuation of several articles started last year, and begins a new article on interments in St. Patrick's Cemetery. On another page will be found a list of the services offered by the Society.

ST. PATRICK'S CEMETERY
Philadelphia Road, Baltimore.

This article is taken from two sources. The first source is a series of inscriptions which were copied in November 1934 by Mrs. Frank A. Suter, Mrs. W. H. Pearce, and Mrs. A. L. Latham of the General Mordecai Gist Chapter, N.S.D.A.R. The typescript was placed in filing Case A at the Maryland Historical Society. They copied all of the inscriptions they could read because the cemetery was to be moved since a new highway to Philadelphia might be built over the land. Entries from this source are entered with no other indication of source.

The second source is William N. Wilkins' "Early Baltimore City Burial grounds and Their Interment Records, 1834-1840," found at the Maryland Historical Society. A typical entry gives name, sex, age, cause of death, burial in the week ending a given date, and the cemetery where buried. Entries from this source are indicated by (W). The symbol "b/w/e" means "buried week ending."

In transcribing these inscriptions, the names have been alphabetized, except for grouping husbands and wives together, and the data has been presented in a condensed format that does not omit any relevant details.

Wilkins indicates that in 1822 St. Patrick's Cemetery was at Wolfe & Lombard. In 1850 the cemetery was on Philadelphia Road.

The 1877 Atlas of Baltimore County shows St. Patrick's Cemetery just north of Philadelphia Road, on a tract bounded by East Jefferson St., Potomac St., Orleans St., and Loney's Lane

THE BURNHAM BIBLE

It is the purpose of the Baltimore County Genealogical Society to publish Bible records pertaining to local families. Information is arranged in the fashion of a family record, and in order to save space, the exact times of birth or death, and repetitious phrases have been eliminated.

Where several Bibles have been used in compiling the entry, each is designated at the beginning of the entry, and the source of specific statements is indicated by the reference letter in parentheses.

Where appropriate, annotations to the entries have been added after the information.

Immigrant Ancestors of Marylanders, as Found in Local Histories. By Bill and Martha Reamy. Pipe Creek Press (358 pp., indexed, paper; $40.00), the book has several purposes: The first was to help researchers specifically pinpoint immigrant ancestors.

The second purpose of the book was to provide a partial index to many worthy, out-of-print, unindexed Maryland source records. Although the entries are undocumented, they are brief and researchers should follow up by obtaining a print of the original article. Most contain extensive additional data on the family.

A typical entry reads: JOHN JACOB BALTZELL, from Alsace, Germany in middle of last century, during the Seven Years' War there. He settled at Philadelphia and c.1750 located in Frederick, MD. He came with his brother Charles, who served in the Revolutionary War, a major in the German regiment of MD line. 6TH:317-18. Of course, many entries are longer.

This reviewer has already found in the book a helpful clue to one of the families he has been researching.

In Search of Your German Roots (United Germany Edition). By Angus Baxter. Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1991. $10.95.

We are all familiar with the work of this author, and this reviewer applauds Mr. Baxter's compilation of the United Germany Edition of this research aid. He touches upon Lutheran, Jewish, and Mormon Records, as well as Archives, Germans in the United States and Canada, and German Genealogical Associations.

This worthwhile research aid is highly recommended.

Baltimore County Land Records 1665-1687 (From the Maryland Historical Magazine. By Louis Dow Scisco, with a new Introduction and Index by Robert Barnes. Baltimore: Clearfield Co. $18.00.

This reprint is a small book which contains a large group of Baltimore County records. These records were originally published in the Maryland Historical Magazine by Scisco between 1929 and 1941. Robert Barnes has done everyone a great favor by adding an Introduction and an Index, which (hooray!) contains names of land tracts. This book is a valuable addition to the library of anyone interested in Baltimore County.

Upshur County, West Virginia, Births, 1853-1897. By Billie Faye Drost and Karon Janel King. Bowie: Heritage Books, Inc., 1993. Pp. vii, 214. $30.00 plus $3.00 s/h..

This book contains entries, alphabetically arranged from Upshur County Birth Books 1 (1853-1890), 2 (1887-1897), and part of 3 and the Delayed Birth Book for those entries that fell into the time frame. There are several alphabetical listings, one from each of the books used. Names have been presented exactly as spelled in the original record. This is an extremely important research tool for anyone working on Upshur County families.

Durbin and Logsdon Genealogy With Related Families, 1626-1991; Volume 2. By Betty Jewell Durbin Carson. Bowie: Books, Inc., 1993. Pp. x, 253. Indexed, illus. $21.00 plus $3.00 s/h.

Volume 1 has already been reviewed in this journal, and this volume contains additional helpful information on the family, which has spread from Maryland into Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia, Illinois, and points west. Although the chapter on Early Durbins of England, merely contains notes from the IGI, the rest of the book contains family histories, ancestor charts, and transcriptions of source materials, which make this an excellent source book on the families included. Among the related families are the Arnolds, Baxters, Blubaughs, Mattinglys, Paynes, and many others.

"Logsdons in (and from) Allegany Co., MD, 1778-1850." By Richard T. Koch. August 1993.

This typescript is not for sale, but copies have been placed in the Allen Co. IN Public Library in Fort Wayne, Allegany County Community College in Cumberland, the Carroll and Frederick County Historical Societies, and the Baltimore County Genealogical Societies. Mr. Koch has graciously given permission for any of these repositories to make copies. Anyone interested in the family is urged to contact the compiler, Richard T. Koch, 175 East Main St., Frostburg, MD, 21532.

Inhabitants of Cecil County, Maryland, 1649-1774. By Henry C. Peden. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1993. Pp. vii, 250. Indexed. $18.00.

Henry Peden has produced another helpful book of source materials for anyone working on Cecil County. Patents and certificates, petitions, tax lists, militia lists, civil officers might expected to be found, as they are. The compiler has also included lists of insolvent debtors, unlawful cohabitations, naturalizations, persons owing court costs, and a 1757 constables' wheel carriages make this a worthwhile contribution to our knowledge of daily life in early Maryland. The book is well done, and is highly recommended.

Newspaper Abstracts of Frederick County, 1816-1819. By F. Edward Wright. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1993. Pp. vii, 205. Indexed. $12.50.

This book is a continuation of several other books of newspaper abstracts, and fills the gap between similar books of abstracts for the years 1786 to 1815 and 1820 to 1840. Marriages and deaths, legal notices, business advertisements, and notices of insolvent debtors create a picture of life on what used to be the frontier of Maryland, but by this time was becoming well settled. As with other books in this series, the numbers in the index refer to issues of newspapers, and not to pages. If your ancestors ventured west of the branches of the Patapsco, you will want to have this book.

THE VACATION: TRAVELING FOR RESEARCH OR JUST VISITING RELATIVES by Eleanor Lukanich

The vacation can be a golden opportunity or a disaster; it will be what you make of it.

First and foremost is preparation. Don't wait until you get to your destination to decide where to go and what to look for. Have a plan.

If you are traveling strictly for research, travel light. You are going to gather information. There is no need to take all of your genealogical data, notes, records, forms, and charts. Evaluating and sorting out the data you gather can be done when you come home. If you are really travelling light, don't take a typewriter or computer, especially if you will be researching in small towns. Most libraries don't have the room for you to use this equipment.... Many small town libraries do not have copy machines for public use, but if you need to have copies reproduced, they will take an order and mail the materials to you. Place your order while you are there and pay for the copies and postage.

Study maps in connection with your itinerary.. Find your destinations in specific towns, and mark them on a map. If you are not driving your own car to your destination, plan to rent a car when you get there. It will be cheaper and will save time.

Find out where the record centers are before you leave home. Is there a local historical or genealogical society? Libraries (and even college libraries) may contain a lot of information on local history.

Find out the hours and days the research centers are open so you can avoid arriving in a town on the day the repository is closed. Try to make your route a continuous line, avoiding backtracking, so that you begin and end at the same place.

Identify all sources of information used. Keep all data gathered at a particular library or repository together in an envelope with the name and address of the library on it.

Be sure to take plenty of pencils.

You do not need to travel First Class. Stay at a Bed and Breakfast or Motel. Keep your costs down as much as possible. Spend some time in the towns where your forebears lived, and soak up the atmosphere. If you can find the schools or churches they attended take pictures; if you locate an ancestral home, be sure to get the present owner's permission before photographing it.

Remember that not everyone cares about genealogy. Be courteous, patient, and friendly. Don't demand service or information. You are an outsider and a guest.

If you are visiting relatives take a notebook. Always write down who told you anything, and try to visit the older relatives. Write down everything you are told, and if people are mentioned of whom you are never heard, write their names down and try to find out more about them.

Carry your notebook everywhere. Who cares if you are remembered as "Crazy Aunt Nellie or Uncle Joe with the Notebook." At least you will be remembered.

Bibliographies

Maryland and Delaware Genealogies: A Bibliography of Books About Maryland and Delaware Families. By Donald Odell Virdin. Bowie: Heritage Books, Inc. 1993. Pp. 114. Indexed. $20.00

Pennsylvania Genealogies and Family Histories: A Bibliography of Books About Pennsylvania Families. By Donald Odell Virdin. Bowie: Heritage Books, Inc. 1992. Pp. 269. Indexed. $33.00

Mr. Virdin has compiled two bibliographies that should be of some value to family history researchers. The Maryland and Delaware bibliography contains names and addresses of historical and genealogical organizations for the two states. The Pennsylvania bibliography gives names and addresses of major repositories where the books can be found.

The Maryland and Delaware volume lists about 800 titles, while the Pennsylvania book contains about 2800 titles. Each volume contains an index of family names mentioned in titles that are not listed in the text under that name.

Perhaps no bibliography can ever be truly complete, but a survey of the Maryland volume reveals some omissions: The Dorsey, Dorsey and Nimmo study of The Dorsey Family is not listed. Newman's original volume of Anne Arundel Gentry (1933) is listed, but the three volumes of Anne Arundel Gentry: Revised and Augmented are missing.

Nevertheless both volumes should be helpful for locating new sources to be checked.

Guide to Research in Baltimore City and County, 2nd ed. By Robert Barnes. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1993. Pp. 151. Softcover; Indexed; Illus. $18.00.

Baltimore City and County researchers who purchased the first edition of this guide know how useful it is; this reviewer purchased a copy and it is one of just a few books that is used again and again to located everything from maps to manuscript collections. Mr. Barnes has revised his 1989 best seller and added many new features to coordinate the wealth of genealogical information that has been produced in the past several years. New sections include funeral home records, computers in genealogy, an updated bibliography of sources and a section on note taking and assessing records.

Anyone with an interest in doing genealogical research in Baltimore City and County should add this book to his or her collection. Mr. Barnes has been researching both personally and professionally in these areas for over thirty years, and his knowledge of the records and sources is unrivaled. Many local researchers (including this reviewer!) have benefitted from Mr. Barnes' advice and experience, and now, with this book, many other genealogists will have success in the records of Baltimore.

Marylanders to Carolina: Migration of Marylanders to North Carolina and South Carolina Prior to 1800. By Henry C. Peden, Jr. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. vi, 225. Indexed. $15.00.

Migrations of early families are hard to trace, especially since they often lived in several counties or states before settling down. Nicodemus Barnes was born not 20 miles from Baltimore. He claimed to have served in the Revolution, and then moved to NC, then to Chester Co., SC. He moved on to Roan Co., TN, and by 1843 was in Clinton Co., KY.

Genealogists will be happy to have this volume to help them trace those members of their families who "went to Carolina." Land records, pension applications, Quaker records, and state and county histories were combed to find the names of those who went south, whether for religious, political, economic or other reasons.

Passengers and Ships Prior to 1684: Penn's Colony: Volume I. By Walter Lee Sheppard, Jr. (Publications of the Welcome Society of Pennsylvania, Number 1, 1985). Repr.: Bowie: Heritage Books, 1992. Pp. 245, Indexed, Maps. $21.00.

Immigration books are always welcome, and Mr. Sheppard's volume is a scholarly examination of a number of lists originally compiled by Marion R. Balderston, Francis James Dallett, Hannah Benner Roach, Marion Bunting, and Mr. Sheppard. The passenger lists are extensively annotated making them invaluable for reconstructing the lives of early Pennsylvania settlers. So many Marylanders trace their ancestry to these early arrivals that the book is an important addition to libraries.

Hight-Hite Families of Sussex and Surry Counties, VA, from about 1634. By Robert E. Wallace. Bowie: Heritage Books, Inc., 1993. Pp. vi, 182.

This book deals with the over 1300 descendants of John Hite who came to VA in 1656, and includes information of related families of Acres, Augusta, Bacon, Chambly, Cotton, Demastus, Duffer, Gee, Hopkins, Hudson, Hurlow, Johnson, Jones, Maben, McDaniel, Neblett, Sheffield, Simmons, Smith, Thompson, Wallace, Wells, Wilkensons, Willhites, and Ystrom. There is an index to the material on pp. 1-60, but beginning on p. 115 is a Chronology of early Hights containing information from land records, tax lists, census records, parish records, and wills not only from Virginia, but from Georgia, and North Carolina as well. It is unfortunate that this material is not indexed, because the book contains too much information not to have , but the lack of an index detracts from the usefulness of the book.

Royal Genealogies

The Genealogical Publishing Company has issued two new titles in this field. The first is The Royal Descents of 500 Immigrants to the American Colonies or the United States. By Gary Boyd Roberts. Baltimore: GPC, 1993. Pp. lxxviii, 622. Indexed; Illus.; Bibliography. $45.00 (plus $3.00 p/h).

The compiler, Director of Publications at the NEHG Society, has compiled an outstanding volume of royal descents for 570 immigrants to the United States. A typical entry gives the line of descent followed by the sources. Although the descent contains few dates or places, interested descendants can reconstruct the pedigree from the sources given. Although only 13 immigrants to Maryland are included, a number of the settlers in Virginia and Pennsylvania had children or grandchildren who came to Maryland. This reviewer has been working on the Mauduit family that settled in Prince George's County in the early 18th century. He was delighted to see that a collateral branch of the family contained the progenitors of actor Peter Lawford. Other families with Maryland connections discussed are: Arundell, Bladen, Boteler, Brent, Calvert, Codd, Digges, Ellicott, Fowke, Gerard, Gill, Gorsuch, Lovelace, Magruder, Mainwaring, Neale, Sewall, Tilghman, Wolseley and Wynne. The royal descents of Marmaduke Wyvill, Mary Johanna Somerset, and Frances White Wells are not included. This book is a definite "must have" for anyone interested in European ancestry.

The second title, or rather group of titles, is a reprint of the Marquis of Ruvigny and Raineval's The Blood Royal of Britain (The Tudor Roll) and The Plantagenet Roll of the Blood Royal (The Clarence, Exeter, Essex, and Mortimer-Percy Volumes).

Balto.: GPC, 1994. 5 vols. Pp. 632, 730, 842, 698, and 650. Indexed. $230.00 until 30 June; $235.00 thereafter. ($7.00 p/h). [Each volume can be purchased separately].

The compiler brought out his first volume in 1903. The last appeared in 1911, and contains information on 50,000 descendants of Edward III, with over 300,000 lines of descent. The projected series was never completed, but the five volumes that did appear are probably the "most extensive of the various attempts to trace all of the lines of descent of any portion of English royalty..." Among the Maryland families included are Digges, Jerningham, Markland, Somerset, and Wyvill. In each volume the lines of descent are traced first in a series of pedigree charts bringing the descents down to the early or mid 19th century, and then in a series of narratives giving full particulars of the families.

Persons interested in royal genealogy and libraries will want to have these books.

JOTTINGS FROM THE EDITOR'S OWN NOTEBOOK

The Maryland State Archives has a new index on the "Word Cruncher:" an index of heads of families in the 1870 census of Baltimore City and County. This index was made available to the Archives by the publishers of a forthcoming book, Index to the 1870 Census of Maryland. The index shows the full name, age, birthplace, ward or district of residence, page number and microfilm number where the full family entry can be examined.

Like most researchers, the editor quickly punched in the last names of families he was searching. In a few cases he could not find the individual sought. One problem was solved by keying in the first name of the person sought--a native of Portugal. Sure enough the name was found: not Anthony Fratis, but Anthony Fraley, birthplace Portugal.

Another missing ancestor, William Swam, was found by typing in Wiseburg, the Post Office of the 6th District, and there appeared the name: William "Swim." (Swim was one of the new spelling variations not checked).

Using this remarkable index, it would be possible to call up all the people who lived in a certain district, who were born in a particular place, or who had a certain first name.

# # # #

The genealogical books sent to the Maryland Historical Society by the George Peabody Library are being catalogued and stored temporarily on new shelving of the MHS. It is hoped that within a few months these books will all be catalogued and brought down to the main floor to be merged with the collection. These new books include many titles dealing with Southern and New England source records.

# # # #

The editor has found a way to combine an old love (genealogy) with a new one (post card collecting). For some time he has been collecting post cards with flags and coats of arms. Recently however, he has expanded his collection to include post cards of English parish churches, so that if he finds one of the parish of origin for one of his own, or a client's, family, he can xerox it for his genealogy files. Perhaps surprisingly, black and white photographs of the early 1920's and 1930's are more suitable for this purpose than modern color photographs.

PUZZLING PIECES FROM THE PAST

The items in this article have been gathered by the Editor in the course of many years of researching. Anyone who can provide additional identification is urged to communicate with the Editor.

DOUGLAS, JOSEPH, alias Douglas Hamilton, of St. Paul's Parish, Baltimore, died prior to March 1774, when administration was granted in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, to Rachel Crispin, widow, attorney for Douglas' relict, Rachel Douglas alias Reachel Dugles, in Baltimore County. In Nov. 1791 this administration was revoked and granted by his solemn affirmation to John Blake, attorney for the only child, George Crispin Douglas (Peter Wilson Coldham, American Wills and Administrations Proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, 1610-1857, Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1989, p. 92).

Joseph Hamilton Douglas m. Rachel Bayard on 4 April 1768.. They were the parents of: George Crispin Douglas, b. 18 Sept. 1772 (Bill Reamy and Martha Reamy, Records of St. Paul's Parish, Volume 1, Westminster: Family Line Publications, c.r. by Martha Reamy, pp. 26, 36).

SIMMS, MARY, alias MARY LITTLE, came into court on 26 Oct. 1763 and stated that she was the daughter of William and Mary Simms, and that she m. Henry Little in St. Paul's Parish when she was only 12 years old. She renounced the marriage (Baltimore County Chattel Records, B#G, 1763-1773, Maryland State Archives)

William "Sim" died by 25 July 1761 when administration bond was posted by Mary Sim, administratrix, with John Money and John Simpson (or Sampson as sureties. On 31 Aug. 1761 Henry "Littill," administrator de bonis non, posted a second bond. Charles Gordon and Thomas Clendening were his sureties (Baltimore County Administration Bonds, 6:28, 29, Maryland State Archives).

Mary "Sims," widow, died leaving a will dated 1 Aug. 1761, proved 31 Aug. 1761, naming her son-in-law Henry Little as executor, leaving a lot, house and furniture in Baltimore Town to Henry Little of Baltimore Town and his wife Mary, and leaving 1 shilling each to Alexander Russell of Baltimore Town, joiner, and his wife Ann. Robert Armstrong, John Simpson and George Markham witnessed the will (Balto. Co. Wills, 2:335, Maryland State Archives).

SIMPSON, THOMAS, died leaving a will. Edward Pontany, Jr., son of William, John Curtis, Conrad Hush, and George Fight [Fite] caution all persons from buying his estate from Sarah Ward or any of her children or her sons in law. Edward Pontany, Sr., and the said Sarah Ward cohabited together, and now that Pontany is deceased, Sarah Ward styles herself Sarah Pontany, but the records of St. Paul's Parish show her to be Sarah Ward (Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser, 12 Nov. 1784).

[No will for Thomas Simpson can be found. It is possible that when the editor transcribed the newspaper he inadvertently transcribed Thomas Simpson, and not Edward Pontany.]

THE WINDS OF WAR

The following letter, dated 14 Nov. 1814, was found by George L. Horvath in Baltimore City Archives Records RG No. 5, Series 1, HRS No. 1814, Doc. 167.

to the Commissioners of Tax of Baltimore County:

Gentlemen: These few lines is to inform you of the losses I have sustained since the last assessment of my own property - and the property I have under my care as Guardian to the heir of Elisha Sollers (deceased) lying in Patapsco Neck. As for my own is a negro man who died a few months past, between 14 and 45 years of age. The loss of the Estate of Elisha Sollers is very considerably destroyed by the Enemy, they have burnt all the Improvements that was of any value, they destroyed by fire a large brick dwelling house, a large brick barn, and shed, a brick stable, a granary, corn house & injured several small houses. From the [least?] calculation I do not think can be replaced for six thousand dollars at the present time.

Gentlemen, I hope you will take this in consideration as it has rendered the plantation Entire useless.

Yrs. with respect, Hickman Johnson.

Mary Read Cooper, 2820 Kelly Square, Vienna, VA 22181-6153, is the person who gave the Society the copy of the Sands Bible in The Notebook, Vol. 10, No. 2, pp. 22-23.

She states that Samuel Sands (5) was the young 14 year old apprentice who set the "Star Spangled Banner" in type for the first time.

She adds the Bible did not give the birth date or parentage of William Bell Sands (12), but he was a son of Samuel (5) and Sarah Buckler (Innes) Sands, and was listed in the 1850 Census as 8 years old, and in the 1900 Census as age 50.

Harford Circuit of the Methodist Church: Birth and Marriage Register, 1809-1815, and Minutes of the Quarterly Conferences, 1831-1842 (Maryland Historical Manuscript MS-427). Abstracted and Indexed by Glenn Randers-Pehrson. Harford County Genealogical Special Publication No. 14. Aberdeen: The Society, 1994. Pp. 5. Indexed.

The title is descriptive of the contents, but the Introduction states that the book also includes marginal notes pertaining to the Smith family (of Smith Chapel), and class lists of one of the churches. The Harford Circuit included 41 congregations, which were served by only a few clergymen. The Minutes of the Quarterly Conferences contain information on both the clergy and lay people. The book is a welcome addition to one's Harford County or Church History Book Shelf.

Children of Harford County: Indentures and Guardianships, 1801-1830. By Henry C. Peden, Jr. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. 87. $7.00.

Henry Peden has combed the General Entries Books, 1801-1830, at the Harford County Court House in Bel Air to abstracts any references to children whose parents were unable to take care of them or who wanted them to learn a useful trade. Since many people in the early years did not leave wills, or had such small estates that there was nothing to distribute to the heirs, this book will fill in many gaps in the histories of Harford County families. Many entries give the age or birth date of the child. The compiler is well known for his helpful books, and this is another book that anyone interested in the region or the time period must have.

Lancaster County, Pennsylvania Church Records of the 19th Century. By F. Edward Wright. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. 2 vols. Indexed, illus. Pp. xix, 296. $19.00. Pp. xix, 321. $21.00.

With these two volumes Ed Wright adds to the growing number of volumes of Pennsylvania Church Records which must not be overlooked by family historians in Maryland, especially those working in the northern portion of the state. Volume I contains records of 15 Lutheran and Reformed Congregations. The Introduction contains names of congregations for many denominations and instructions on using the records. A map of the townships of Lancaster County enhances the usefulness of the work. Volume II contains the records of the First Reformed Congregation of Lancaster. These books, each with a full name index, make research in the county much easier.

1994-1995 Pocket Guide to Genealogical Resource Centers of the Mid-Atlantic. Compiled by Lauren Wright. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. iv, 38. Illus. $3.50.

This slim volume provides a quick reference to Genealogical Archives, Societies and Libraries in Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Washington, D.C. The book opens with a calendar of genealogical events. Then a description of the addresses, hours, and research conditions at numerous research centers. Maps are included showing exactly where the facilities are located. Recommended state and regional guides are listed throughout the work, which also has genealogical tips interspersed throughout the pages. The last part of the book deals with the addresses and hours of Family History Centers throughout the Mid-Atlantic Region.

Early Church Records of New Castle County, Delaware. By F. Edward Wright. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. 2 vols. Indexed, illus. Pp. xvi, 329. $22.00. Pp. xvi, 410. $30.00.

In 1986 F. Edward Wright published Vital Records of Kent and Sussex Counties, Delaware, 1686-1800. These two volumes round out the published extant church records of Delaware. Volume 1 contains records of Episcopal, Baptist, Friend, Presbyterian, Methodist and Roman Catholic Churches, as well as marriage bonds from the court house. Volume 2 contains records of the Old Swedes' (Crane Hook) Church in Wilmington. Many entries give the addresses of the parties, and a number of Marylanders are so described. These books are well done, contain an every name index, and are essential to those researching Delaware and Eastern Maryland families.

Abstracts of the Inventories and Accounts of the Prerogative Court of Maryland: Libers 37A, 37B, 37C, 38A, 38B, 39A, 39B, 39C: 1715-1718. Compiled by V. L. Skinner, Jr. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. iv, 103. Indexed. $11.00.

This is another in the continuing series of abstracts of early probate records made available to researchers by the compiler. Although it is always best to consult the original records, these abstracts contain an every name index to all those who appear in the originals, making it easy to trace individuals in this time period. Marriage references are frequently found, not only among the executrices or administratrices of the deceased, but in the list of debtors or creditors also. In the 1716 account of the estate of William Cotter of Anne Arundel County, payment was made David Gray, husband of a Penelope Persons. This would not have been found if Skinner had only abstracted the names of the deceased, and those who settled his estate. The book is well worth the price.

Parceling Out Land in Baltimore, 1632-1796. By Garrett Power. (Reprinted from the Maryland Historical Magazine, 87 (1992): 453-66, 88 (1993): 151-80. Baltimore: The Maryland Historical Society, n.d. Pp. 56. Illus. $5.00.

This well researched narrative tells the story of the parceling out of the land grants in the original Baltimore Town from survey to the first building. The narrative is carried down to 1796 when Baltimore Town was incorporated as a city, and includes biographical sketches of the early settlers and speculators. If the book has a fault it is the lack of an index, but students of Baltimore history will find it an excellent addition to their libraries.

Inhabitants of Kent County, Maryland, 1637-1787. By Henry C. Peden, Jr. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. vi, 272. Indexed. $19.50.

Like Mr. Peden's earlier works on the inhabitants of Baltimore and Cecil Counties, this book is made up of lists of names drawn from list of patentees, tax lists, court proceedings, vestry proceedings, revolutionary war records, and other sources, resulting in a volume containing hundreds (if not thousands) of names. The Assessment List of 1783 is included, with entries arranged by tract names with names of owners following. Like all of the compiler's books, this is highly recommended.

"Death of Jacob Bunce - A Patriarch Who Had 27 Children -A Remarkable Man"
Submitted by Betty and Don Bunce

Jacob Bunce died on Dec. 30th at his home near Webster at the advanced age of 87 years less three months. He was born in Chestertown, Kent Co., MD. Mr. Bunce was married three times. His first wife was Miss Blackston of Baltimore who died childless. His second wife was Miss Mary Greenland of Harford [Co.] who bore him 19 children - two sets of twins and one of triplets. Of the 19 only six are living: Mrs. George Cullum, Mrs. D. Spencer, Mrs. Henry Lackey, Mrs. J. T. Mitchell, Mrs. James McCommons of Harford Co., and Mrs. Alex. McNeill of Philadelphia. Mr. Bunce's third wife was Miss Margaret McCommons who survives him. She was the mother of eight children, only three of whom are living: namely: John, David, and Edward Bunce. Mr. Bunce, when quite young, learned the coopering trade in Baltimore after which he came to Harford and had lived in the same neighborhood for over 52 years. He was a man of iron constitution and of more than ordinary ability. He was noted for his strict integrity and unvarying truthfulness. He had received merely an ordinary school education, but was a great reader and thinker and was possessed of a prodigious memory. It was often remarked that he had never attempted to talk upon a subject unless he understood it.

About six years ago, Mr. bunce joined the Trinity Episcopal church at Churchville, and in his zeal shamed many a younger Christian. He would walk all the way to church as long as he was able and he died the death of the righteous - a beautiful deathbed. Mr. Bunce left numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Interment [was] on Jan. 1st at Weslyn [sic] Chapel. The following were pallbearers: J. H. Preston, Alex gilbert, Geo. Anderson, Jarrett Standiford, B. F. Gallion, and E. H. Foard (The Aegis, Jan. 6, 1893).

Note by the Contributors, Betty and Don Bunce, 943 Cromwell Bridge Road, Towson, MD 21286: Jacon Bunce, b. c.1806, Kent Co., MD, d. 30 Dec. 1892, Harford County, MD. He was probably a son Cowenton United Methodist Church in northeast Baltimore County is in its 92nd year, and is trying to find the names of pastors on the Chase Circuit between 1912 and 1924. The Circuit may have had another name back then when the parsonage burned with all the records in it. Camp Chapel, Ebenezer, and Orems U. M. Churches were other churches on the Circuit. District of Columbia Marriage Licenses, Register 1, 1811-1858.

Compiled by Wesley E. Pippenger. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. viii, 664. Illus. $47.00.

Mr. Pippenger has compiled a mammoth source book that presents marriage licenses for the District of Columbia in a format that lists both brides and grooms, obviating the need for an index. The Introduction discusses the history of the records and how they were preserved. The difficulty of dealing with unusual spellings is also discussed. The book is well done, and is highly recommended for anyone researching families in the District or the counties of Maryland or Virginia that are nearby.

Maryland Calendar of Wills; 1772-1774; Volume 15. Continuing the Series Begun by Jane Baldwin Cotton. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. iv, 241. Indexed. $16.00.

The introduction discusses various published abstracts of Maryland Wills and other probate records. The text contains abstracts of wills from Maryland Will Book 39, and contains some abstracts that were not included in Magruder's Maryland Colonial Abstracts. The full name index also contains names of tracts and names of negroes who only had one name. This is a basic research tool that all Maryland researchers will want to have.

Supplement to the Abstracts of Inventories and Accounts of the Prerogative Court of Maryland, 1691-1706; Additional Inventories and Accounts that were taken from the Wills and Testamentary Proceedings. By V. L. Skinner, Jr. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. iv, 51. Indexed. $5.00.

Like the preceding volumes in Mr. Skinner's most excellent series, this volume helps to create a fuller picture of the estate records left by Maryland decedents--whether or not they died testate. The Introduction explains the symbols used and the format of the text, which includes not only the names of the deceased and the accountants, but also the names of everyone named in the record: indentured servants, debtors, creditors, and next of kin. Researchers will have to have this book for their personal research libraries.

Chancery Books of Carroll County, Maryland, Volumes 1-20, 1837-1873. Abstracted by Virginia D. Stenley. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. iv, 200. Indexed. $14.00.

Chancery cases abound with family history that may not be found in other records. A typical entry gives the book and page number, as well as Equity Case number; the names of the litigants, and a summary of the genealogical information and the names of any tracts mentioned. The full name index also includes names of tracts. The compiler is to be commended for having produced an extremely helpful volume, which researchers in the area will want to have.

Abstracts of Charles County Maryland Court and Land Records, 1694-1722. Volume 3. By Elise Greenup Jourdan. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. 246. Indexed. $18.00.

Like Elise Jourdan's preceding volumes of land records of Charles and Prince George's County Land Records, this newest volume is full of helpful data for genealogical researchers. The exact liber and page numbers are given if anyone should wish to obtain a full copy of the original record. Names of grantors and grantees are in bold face type, and names of tracts are in italics. Tract names are included in the index. The book is highly recommended.

Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, Church Records of the 18th Century. By F. Edward Wright. Westminster: Family Line Publications, 1994. Pp. xix, 278. Indexed. Illus. $19.50.

The third volume in this series of church records contains records of Sadsbury Monthly Meeting, St. James' Episcopal Church, St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Baptismal and Marriage registers of Reverend John Cuthbertson and Casper Stoeve, and the Records of Donegal Presbyterian Church. The records of Sadsbury Meeting contain references to some early Maryland settlers, and the Registers of Rev. John Cuthbertson contain a few Maryland items. The book is a "must-have" for Pennsylvania researchers.

The West Family Data Base, Vol. 1. By Howard E. West, Jr. 1991, Repr.: Bowie: Heritage Books, Inc., 1994. Pp. 350. Indexed; soft cover.

The records of the West family gathered for this data base span the thirteenth century to the present, and have been collected from census, military, tax, and probate files, as well as family Bibles. Mr. West has arranged his work in a clear chronological format with categories for each person that include the date of record, and, if known, the names of spouses, siblings, parents, the record type and a comment on the type of record and where it was found. If there is a weak area in this work, it lies in the fact that the reader is not given a full citation to the source of the record. For example, the entry for Edmund West 1784 is a probate record found in Edmond County, Virginia, but the location, book and page number were not included. These omissions will cause researchers additional work as they will have to trace the records from the clues in this volume to validate these lines.

Aside from this, the compiler has done an admirable job in pulling together all of the information he could find on the West family. His data base also includes fifty-seven family charts, twelve maps, a bibliography, and a full name index. This book will undoubtedly become a well used source of information on the West family and their migration from England to America.

Bible and Family Records of Harford County, Maryland Families, Vol. III. Compiled by Shirley L. Reightler. Harford County Genealogical Society Special Publication No. 15. Aberdeen: The Society, 1994. Pp. ii, 28. Indexed. $3.50 plus $1.50 p/h.

This third volume of Bible Records brings to a total of 83 pages of such records published by the society. The Bibles included in this book were collected by members of the Society from a variety of sources. Each Bible record is accompanied by Publication Data, and additional Comments on the family. In addition to the surname index for this volume, the Society has included a combined surname index to all three volumes published to date. Many of the Bibles were published in the 19th Century, but quite a few contain entries from the eighteenth century. Like the other special publications of the Harford County Genealogical Society, this will prove a very helpful volume for family researchers in the area.
